

HUNGER MARCHERS BESIEGE LONDON

Senator Borah Declares He Will Vote For Hoover

IDAHO SOLON SEARS SMITH IN ADDRESS

Says Anti-Prohibition Talk
Most Effective Speech
For President Hoover
NO ACTIVE SUPPORT

Scorching Arraignment of Smith Made in Ringing
Address in Nampa, Ida.

NAMPA, Ida., Oct. 26.—(UP)— Senator William E. Borah will vote for Herbert Hoover for president.

The Progressive Republican from Idaho made that commitment at the end of a scorching arraignment of former Governor Alfred E. Smith last night in connection with Smith's anti-prohibition address at Newark, N. J., Monday night.

A United Press correspondent asked Borah if his attack on Smith meant he would be a "Hoover voter." Borah replied shortly in the affirmative.

He indicated he had no plans of actively supporting the Republican candidate. He would not amplify his statement.

All the oratorical fury the veteran senator could muster was directed at Smith. He characterized the 1928 Democratic nominee's address as the "most effective talk for President Hoover in his campaign."

Admitting there was an honest difference of opinion on the Prohibition question, Borah continued:
"But when a man says that those opposing the throwing down of all barriers to the liquor traffic are cranks and intellectual crooks, he leaves no doubt as to where respectable people ought to go."

"Many men and women have been in doubt in this campaign owing to the attitude of both parties on the liquor question. But Governor Smith removed that doubt with a vast number of people. He denounced as bigots all those who are against the return of liquor traffic."

"He says to them in so many words: 'There is no place for you in the Democratic party.'"

"The millions of sincere and patriotic men and women who would control liquor traffic, who

ROOSEVELT BLAMED FOR "FEAR" ISSUE

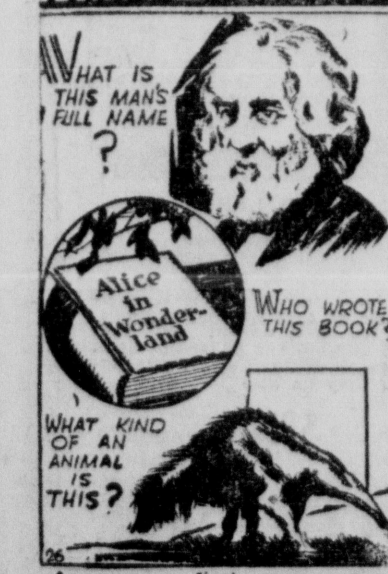

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 26.—
(UP)—Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills places the blame for any "fear" issue in the presidential campaign upon Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt himself.

Mills, in an address here last night, denied the Republican party was spreading an octet of fear of panic should the Democratic candidates win in the November election.

He said the fear arose directly from Gov. Roosevelt's campaign speeches and the record of the Democratic house in the last congress.

"Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "complains of fear which he himself caused in large measure have already if he had been willing to grapple with the real issues of this campaign and tell the country where he actually stands."

Northwestern Reduces Salary Scale

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 26.
(UP)—For the first time in the history of the institution, Northwestern university today announced a general 10 per cent salary reduction for the 1932-33 academic year.

The reduction is necessary to meet an expected $400,000 deficit which university authorities foresee by the end of the year.

The old salary scale will be restored as soon as possible, the university said. Curtailment of research and less free service in the medical, dental, legal and speech clinics was also initiated.

FASCIST ITALY GIVES AMNESTY TO ITS EXILES

Mussolini Extends Freedom to Thousands of Former Enemies

MILAN, Italy, Oct. 26.—(UP)— Fascist Italy was open today to its political exiles.

Presently secure in his belief of the unquenchable force of his dictatorship, extended the olive branch to thousands of former foes of his regime, provided they renounce the error of their ways and cooperate with fascism.

At the same time, he predicted a universal fascist triumph in Europe and a century of Italian power, with Italy returning "for the third time" to direct human civilization.

The dictator's speech at Milan, in celebration of fascism's tenth anniversary, was received with satisfaction by the country.

It was estimated the amnesty offer would affect 2,000 exiles in France, 300 in Belgium and Luxembourg, 500 in Switzerland and 500 in the United States and South American republics. The premier did not specifically say what would be his attitude towards those island prisoners definitely in custody for political offenses, although it was expressed a more lenient policy would be adopted.

Mussolini tempered his announcement with a plain warning, however, that those who returned must behave.

DECLARES PEACE IS AKIN TO MARRIAGE

PARIS, Oct. 26.—(UP)—Let Britain and America "give us a peaceful Atlantic and we singlehanded will guarantee the peace of the world." Premier Edouard Herriot told the Anglo-American Press association today in a speech in which he compared international peace with marriage.

"Peace is like marriage between two countries," Herriot said. "Each gives mutual promises to respect mutual rights."

"I have been foreign minister several times, but have been a mayor for many years," Herriot said. He has been mayor of Lyons for 27 years. "As a mayor, one asks two people whether they wish to live in peace and harmony together."

WOMAN PLANS FOR POLAR EXPEDITION

Miss Mary Louise Ulmer, of Pottsville, Pa., plans to become the first woman to accompany a polar expedition.

As the wife of Lincoln Ellsworth, veteran explorer, Miss Ulmer said she would accompany him on his projected expedition into the antarctic regions. The couple plan to get married shortly.

Ellsworth's 32-year-old fiancée said she would accompany him from New Zealand to the Ross sea from where they will take off on a 3,000-mile flight across the south pole. Miss Ulmer herself is a pilot.

"I hope to help him all I can,"
she said simply in describing her plans.

Relief For Railroads Advocated

Investment Bankers Claim
R. F. C. Loans Prevented
National Disaster

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS,
W. Va., Oct. 26.—(UP)—Extension of present relief measures for railroads over the next year was advocated today by the investment bankers' committee of the Reconstruction Finance correlation in convention here.

"The relief afforded by the wage reduction, by rate increases, by the railroad credit corporation and by the Reconstruction Finance correlation," the committee said,
"have saved the roads from disaster but these are only temporary measures designed for the period of emergency. Unless they are extended, they will shortly cease to operate."

"The wage decrease will end
February 1, 1933; the rate increase March 31, 1933; the present railroad credit corporation can make no loans after May 31, 1933, and effective further assistance of the Reconstruction Finance corporation will become increasingly difficult unless its requirements concerning adequate security are amended and relaxed."

The committee felt that it was essential temporary measures be extended to tide carriers over the next year and that wage cuts, freight rate surcharges and operations of the railroad credit cor-

Under Secretary of Treasury
Arthur Ballantine told the bankers that "improvement in the position of government securities augurs well for the future and rests upon a solid foundation."

250 FIGHTING FIRE IN VENTURA COUNTY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—(UP)— Brush fires which have blackened thousands of acres of Southern California's arid lands in the last fortnight, threatened greater havoc in Ventura county today as forest rangers and volunteers fought to save three menaced communities.

More than 50,000 acres were reported laid waste. A band of 250 rangers and volunteers strove despairingly to prevent the fire from spreading to the villages of Santa Susana, Simi and Potrero. Villagers joined the firefighting forces and two engines were sent out from Los Angeles county.

WESTERN PACIFIC FILES I. C. C. PLEA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(UP)—
The Western Pacific railroad today asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to abandon operation of its passenger ferry service across San Francisco Bay between San Francisco and a point near Oakland, Calif.

The road proposes to substitute for this service a line of railroad extending from a connection with its main line around the bay into San Francisco. This line would be the final link in the direct railroad operated by the Great Northern and the Western Pacific from Klamath Falls, Ore., to San Francisco.

B. & P. W. CONCLAVE OPENED IN MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 26.—(UP)— Business women don't want or need any false chivalry but only the same kind of courtesy that one man pays to another, Miss Mabel T. Dugan, executive vice president of the Middletown, Conn., Chamber of Commerce, today told the convention of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries.

FOREIGN NEWS AT A GLANCE

LIMIT PRIESTS
GUADALAJARA, Mex., Oct.
26.—(UP)—A law limiting the number of priests in the state of Jalisco to one for every 25,000 inhabitants was enacted by the legislature last night. The measure would allow seven priests for Guadalajara and about 50 for the remainder of the state.

ARRESTED IN SPAIN
SEVILLE, Spain, Oct. 26.—
(UP)—A man giving the name of John Saul, of Los Angeles, was held by police today after he claimed to have knowledge of the Lindbergh kidnapping case. He was detained for lack of proper passport. Police said they did not believe his story.

SHIPPING LAID UP
LONDON, Oct. 26.—(UP)— Twenty percent of the world's shipping is laid up because of the depression, Lloyd's register showed in its annual report today. The total idle tonnage is 15,000,000, compared to 10,500,000 tons in 1931 and 5,000,000 in 1930. Only an improvement in world trade will remedy conditions, Lloyds said.

POLICE STILL GOV. ROOSEVELT BAFFLED OVER RETURNS HOME LOCAL MURDER THIS MORNING

Chief Howard Declares Men Run Up Against Stone Wall in Inquiry

FORTY-EIGHT hours after the murder of Manus Gantman, East Fourth street merchant, Santa Ana police had unearthed no clue which might lead to the arrest of his murderer, Chief of Police F. W. Howard said today.

"We have found nothing," the chief said. "If we could unearth some motive for the murder, we would have something to go on, but at the present time there is nothing on which to work."

Fifteen or more clues have been run to earth by a squad of police assigned to the case, but none have turned out to have any bearing on the case.

S. B. Kaufman and Leo Ellis, deputy district attorneys have been assisting the police department in its investigation, working far into last night, but like the police, they seem baffled over the crime. They, too, seek a motive and no theory has been advanced by members of the family or friends of the dead man.

N. B. C. NOT SUBJECT TO I. C. C. RULINGS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(UP)—
The interstate commerce commission today ruled that broadcasting rates, charges, rules, regulations and practices of the National Broadcasting company were not subject to the commission's jurisdiction.

The ruling was made after hearings on complaint of the Sea-Shine Products Co., New York, which alleged that the N. B. C. rates and practices were unreasonable and unjustly discriminatory.
The commission was asked to prescribe reasonable rates and to award reparations to the complainant. The complaint was dismissed.
It was the first complaint filed with the commission attacking the practices of a broadcasting company.

BRIGHT SPOTS IN BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(UP)— Electric output continued to rise in the week ended October 22, reaching the highest level since last spring at 1,528,125,000 kilowatt hours.

WASHINGTON—Volume of industrial production throughout the country gained 6 points in the adjusted index of the Federal Reserve board, the biggest monthly increase since inauguration of the index system in 1919.

NEW ORLEANS—Lane cotton mills took on 700 employes, bringing the total working force up to 1600 as a result of a "steady increase in orders from here and abroad," officials here said.

PHILADELPHIA—Sun Oil company declared an extra dividend of 3 per cent in common stock on the common shares in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents a share.

WILMINGTON, Del.—Hercules Powder company reported net profit for the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $238,371, against $213,011 in the preceding quarter.

Police Are Mystified Over Death

Body Found in Sacramento River; No Indications of Violence Found

MARTINEZ, Calif., Oct. 26.—
(UP)—The body of William H. Hanlon, superintendent of schools in Contra Costa county, and prominent member of the state board of education, was found in the Sacramento river here today.

Officials were undecided whether death was accidental or the result of suicide or foul play. A hasty examination of the body revealed no signs of violence.

Hanlon had served as superintendent of schools here since 1906 and was appointed to the state board by Gov. James Rolph, Jr., eight months ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Winifred Hanlon, and two children, Howard and Florence Marjorie.

The veteran educator, who was 62 years old, formerly was a preacher at Pittsburg, Calif., before he moved to Martinez.

Hanlon was last reported seen yesterday. Coroner's officials, pending a more thorough late examination, expressed the belief he might have died of a heart attack since it did not appear that he had been drowned.

Police Chief Charles Palmer suggested that a heart attack may have been induced by worry, aggravated by the action of a finance company repossessing the superintendent's automobile.

Hanlon had not been seen in Martinez since 3:30 p. m. Saturday. His absence had not been reported to police, however.

WATER DISTRICT IS JOINED BY FRESNO

FRESNO, Calif., Oct. 26.—(UP)—
The city of Fresno and the Fresno irrigation district will join forces in lawsuits arising from their filings on water of the San Joaquin river, representatives agreed today.

The city some time ago filed on water of the river to provide a supply for possible future domestic needs. The irrigation district sought to acquire water for possible future irrigation needs. Both filed on a site for a dam near Friant.

GUARDS CALLED OUT IN TEXAS OIL WAR

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 26.—(UP)— Armed National guardsmen and Texas rangers today took command in the rich East Texas oil field as Gov. Ross S. Sterling sought to maintain the state's right to curb crude petroleum production.

The state railroad commission had ordered that wells in the four-county field be allowed to produce only 40 barrels daily, a measure designed to prevent physical waste of oil by glutting mid-continent markets. A federal court decision, returned Monday at Sherman, held the commission's authority invalid.

L. A. MAN MAY GET STATE APPOINTMENT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—(UP)—
Reports were current here that E. Snapper Ingram, city councilman and supporter of Mayor John C. Porter, would succeed James E. Herz, recently ousted as deputy director of the state department of public works.

Governor James Rolph is here for a short stay and is known to be considering a Southern California man for the position. The governor declined to comment on recent rumors concerning political upheavals in state offices at Sacramento, however.

Sea-Going Milkman Disgruntled

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.
(UP)—This business of being a sea-going milkman caused a lot of disgruntled muttering among the deckhands on the freighter Manila as she sailed today for Honolulu.

"Blow my sails, but this here job of soothin' seask heifers ain't fer honest sailors," complained one brawny member of the crew as he surveyed the 30 sad eyed bavins, fresh from the pastures of Wisconsin, that were quartered in the ship's hold.

POLICE ARE MOBILIZED FOR ACTION

Thousands From All Parts of England Arrive in Outskirts Early Today, PLAN DEMONSTRATION

Fearful as Many as Hundred Thousand May Participate in Huge Parade

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(UP)— Thousands of "hunger marchers" besieged London today, ready for an impressive demonstration demanding that the government feed and care for them and their unemployed families.

Police were mobilized to prevent disorders. It was announced no demonstrations could be held within a mile of the House of Commons while parliament is in session.

The wet, weary marchers from the provinces, totaling more than 3,000, converged on London from points hundreds of miles away.
Footsore, half-fed and poorly clothed, they pressed on in their determination to force the government into extending a greater pity. The main point of their protest was against the "means test," under which unemployed are required to prove their right to the dole.

Many of the marchers were already in the outskirts of the city, and the remainder were expected to arrive late today or early tomorrow. With the arrival of the vanguard, police issued stern warnings that breaches of the peace would not be tolerated.

The arrivals from out of town were expected to be reinforced by many thousands of London unemployed. This would make possible an army of desperate men and women with which the authorities feared trouble. Authorities were mindful of last week's violence near parliament.

Organizers of the demonstration posted chalked notices in the London streets instructing local unemployed to meet at a specified

CLAIRE WINDSOR TO REFUSE STAGE PART

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26.—(UP)—
The stage may beckon, but Claire Windsor will continue to play before the camera, she indicated today following her return from a two-weeks vacation near Crater Lake, Ore.

Miss Windsor said she had been offered a starring role in a forthcoming Broadway production, but thought she would decline it in favor of a film career.

The actress was a guest in the north of C. R. Gilliland, wealthy sportsman, with whom she returned by airplane.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

PORT OF SPAIN, Oct. 26.
(To the Editor of The Register.)
If you think that the Amazon River isn't big? We was from just daylight to after lunch ferrying over it in an airplane. There is an island in it as big as New York State.
Don't you all remember looking on a map and seeing three little countries called French Guiana, Dutch Guiana and British Guiana? Well, we found and stopped at all three of 'em today. We also flew (but not too close) by Devil's Island, the famous French prison off French Guiana where Dreyfus was. I couldn't see any inmates playing football so I will take mine with my good friend Warden Lawes of Sing Sing. Tonight we will stop in Port of Spain, Trinidad, an English possession and beautiful spot.

WILL ROGERS.

where he promised Democratic "beer."

The Democratic candidate's next speaking engagements take him into Massachusetts, where all indications have pointed to a heavy trend toward President Hoover. Significantly, as Roosevelt enters eastern territory again, he is taking prohibition more prominently.

He pledged a change as soon as possible.

He urged beer as a revenue measure that would at once divert about $200,000,000 into the federal treasury.

DRIVER RELEASED PENDING TRIAL

Free on bail of $300, Sidney R. Doman, 27, ranch hand of the Marcy ranch, charged with reckless driving was today awaiting the time for his hearing before Judge D. L. McCharles, at Tustin.

The case has not been set by the court.

The car which Doman is said to have been driving ran down Ruth Evelyn Shoemaker, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shoemaker, Monday afternoon, breaking both legs above the knee. She is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where today her condition was reported improved.

Finals In Frosh Election At J. C. Set for Tomorrow

Another election for freshman class officers will be held at Santa Ana Junior college tomorrow, as the result of a first election Tuesday in which Miss Jean Berry, running for secretary, was the only candidate receiving a majority.

Miss Berry, with 80 votes, was elected secretary over Austin Joy and Clarence Lewis.

Dean Benton, Tustin, is leading the presidential nominees with 84 votes. George Lake and Walter Workman, with 43 votes each, will be Benton's opponents in tomorrow's election.

Miss Alta Fisher, with 40 votes, will vie with George Farquhar, Huntington Beach, for vice president, after the elimination of three candidates — Clarence Compton, John Wells and Bud Esbert—Tuesday.

The Misses Ruth Crowl and Le-Ora Hatch remain in the race for treasurer. Miss Crowl received 42 votes, Miss Hatch 37. Miss Charlotte Fulton, Ernie Farnum, Paul Hansen and Jack Wright were eliminated Tuesday.

Police News

Charged with being drunk and disorderly, Jack Hughes, 36, was arrested at Fourth and Lacy streets early last night and lodged in the county jail. He was said to have been causing a disturbance.

Neven E. Ward, 40, truck driver, of 625 North Garvey street, was arrested last night by Santa Ana officers and lodged in the county jail on a drunk charge.

man that would give the police any clue as to why he was killed. So far as the family knows, Manus Gantman had no enemies.

Several years ago he had trouble with a man over a check. The man was arrested and convicted. Police looked into this angle but found the man was still serving his term in Folsom prison.

Chief of Police F. W. Howard left here today for Los Angeles on a mission in connection with the murder, but refused to state what he expected to uncover there.

The instrument of death, a blunt edged iron bar, together with a hammer were taken to a Los Angeles analyst today so that a record of what was found on the tools could be kept in case of arrest and a trial.

The body of Gantman is still being held at the Smith and Tustin funeral parlors here. Inquest will be held by Coroner Earl Abbey at 10 a. m. tomorrow, he announced today.

Boasting of the power of fascism and the return of Italy as a world force Mussolini said:

"When a decade ago we attacked the old Italian political class which governed badly, there were doctrinaires who made ridiculous prophecies. When I said in the Piazza Belgioio that fascism had 60 years before it, those were only early times.

"Now today, with a perfectly tranquil conscience, I say to this immense multitude that the 20th century will be a fascist century. It will be the century of Italian power. It will be the century in which Italy returns for the third time to direct human civilization, because outside our principles there is no salvation for individuals or peoples. "In a decade Europe will be modified, it will either be fascist or fascitized."

HOOVER SPEAKS IN INDIANA ON FRIDAY NIGHT

try drive ending at his home in Palo Alto, Calif.

All these phases remained "in the mill" as he rallied his forces for an smashing climax to one of the hottest campaigns in recent history.

His Indiana tour will begin late Thursday. It was believed. The presidential special was expected to go over the Baltimore and Ohio route, through Virginia and northern West Virginia into southern Ohio. A possible stop was said to be Cincinnati, for a back platform speech.

The president has touched only briefly on farm problems since his Des Moines speech, hence he may emphasize that side of his program again at Indianapolis. He undoubtedly will return to his attack on Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's policies.

Ordinarily, presidents up for reelection remain aloof. They permit the political eagles of their party to handle the campaign. Roosevelt did that in 1904 and was regarded as a precedent then. Wilson and Coolidge followed suit, ignoring Taft's action.

Now, 20 years later, with the Democrats founding away on the economic issues at a time of depression, the president in these final two weeks, will continue at the front in the closest battle since 1916.

BREAKFASTERS TO HEAR KILL WILLIES

The Orange County Kill Willies, well known Orange county musical fundsters, will be featured on the entertainment program which will be presented at the regular weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast club which is to be held tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock at Ketter's cafe. It was announced today by Barney Koster, program chairman.

The Kill Willies broadcast the first of a series of radio programs over KREG, local broadcasting station, last night. Instruments used by the group of seven musicians include Spanish and steel guitars, mandolin, Hawaiian guitars, musical saw, accordion and violin.

President David G. Wetlin today urged all members of the club to be present at the meeting tomorrow as important items of business are scheduled to come up for discussion.

Open House To Be Held By Navy

Officers and enlisted men of the United States navy, stationed on ships in San Pedro-Long Beach area will be hosts at "open house" tomorrow to scores of Orange county people taking advantage of the annual Navy Day celebration to inspect the ships.

According to Capt. R. E. Pope, chief of staff, the ships will be open to visitors between 11:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. Visitors will be taken to the 32 vessels now stationed in the basin by boats leaving the Fifth street landing in San Pedro and Pico landing, Long Beach, between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Special drills will be given aboard all ships during the day and a searchlight display is planned for tomorrow night. Guides aboard each vessel will escort visitors through the ships.

SENATOR BORAH TO CAST VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

He said the return of the saloon, who believe in protecting the American home—these people he denounced. In most unmeasured terms as a bunch of cranks and should belong in the Hoover camp. He says, in effect, "If you have been in any doubt we now invite you to get out. Your presence and your influence are not wanted."

"In this remarkable speech, all other questions were subordinated to the one question, 'Give us beer, give us something to drink.'"

"What a magnificent political creed."

Borah said Smith mentioned nothing about protecting dry states and took it for granted that the former governor would leave them where they were in 1914.

"What Governor Smith says, in effect, is that his party demands a return to the good old days when there was a saloon on every corner. "To denounce as hypocrites and moral delinquents those who have sought in every way to eliminate this curse from society is nothing less than starting."

"He does not present to the country the question of how to deal with the liquor traffic, how to protect the dry states, how to prevent the return of the saloon. He presents a naked proposition of a return to the evils beyond the power of human language to describe."

ARMISTICE DAY PARADE ROUTE IS ANNOUNCED

With 48 entries already announced, including 14 bands and drum corps, the Legion committee in charge of the Armistice day celebration in Fullerton today was completing plans to care for what is expected to be one of the largest crowds in county Armistice day history.

The line of march for the parade on November 11 was outlined by the committee at a meeting yesterday, according to Verne Baker, chairman of the committee.

The parade will form on East Commonwealth at Balcom, and be ready to start at 11 a. m., moving westward on Commonwealth to Pomona; north on Pomona to Chapman; west on Chapman to Spadra road; south of Spadra to Commonwealth; west on Commonwealth to Richman; north on Richman to Wilshire, where it will disband.

Sam Collins, district attorney, and candidate for congress, will be marshal of the day.

An entry that is drawing comment is one planned by El Rodeo riding club, in which A. D. Moodle announces he expects to have one of the largest and best mounted sections ever on display.

Following the parade, a general entertainment is being planned, with a football game between Fullerton and Santa Barbara high schools in the afternoon.

Barbecued dinner will be served at Commonwealth park at noon, and a band concert will be given in the afternoon.

ROSTER OF 20-30 CLUB IS FILLED

With a membership totaling 35, the Santa Ana Twenty-Thirty club, young men's service club, last night filled its quota when John Lutz was elected to membership at a meeting held in Ketter's cafe.

LeRoy Burns gave a report on a district club meeting held Sunday in Fullerton which he and President Leland Finley attended. He announced plans for a district convention to be held in San Diego in January.

Plans for a dance to be staged by the local club the latter part of next month were discussed at the meeting last night. Definite arrangements are to be made and announced later.

The club members last night voted to sponsor a Boy Scout troop which has just been formed at Julia Lathrop Junior High school in place of a Sea Scout troop as was originally planned.

PLEDGES FAIR DISTRIBUTION OF GAS TAXES

Using a series of charts to illustrate his talk, Charles D. Van Wyk, candidate for supervisor from the first district, spoke yesterday at the weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Exchange club. He talked on the state gasoline tax and explained why he is in favor of an equal division of this fund in the order to return a portion of the tax to the incorporated cities where the majority of the tax is paid.

Van Wyk said that every time a motorist purchases a gallon of gasoline he pays one cent tax to the federal government, two cents to the state highway fund and another penny which is returned to Orange county as the gas tax fund.

"In the past 12 years," he said, "we in Santa Ana have paid more than $800,000 into the Orange county gas tax fund. We actually paid three times that amount but two-thirds of the tax is kept by the state for highway purposes. Should Ease Burden

"Living in the city, we are supposed to pay the entire cost of the street paving in front of our own properties in addition to this tax which the supervisors spend and have been spending almost exclusively on county roads. Of the $800,000 only $56,000 has been returned to us for use within the city, to help out on such through streets as East First, Santa Ana boulevard and West Seventeenth streets."

"It is true that we in the city should help construct highways through the country districts. However, we want to be fair to ourselves, as well as the country districts and in all fairness a reasonable portion of the county gas tax which we pay should be returned to the city to help ease the burden for the city property owners."

Makes Pledge

"If we had been able to secure enough of our county gas tax money back this year to take care of delinquent improvement bonds, our city council could have reduced the tax rate this year by at least 25 cents. Because this money was denied us, our city council had to raise the money, and you will find very little difference in your tax bills over last year."

"These figures show a mighty small proportion of the gas tax funds returned to the cities, which paid, I am told, 70 per cent of the total."

"I have no quarrel with San Clemente, but it seems the people of San Clemente paid some $4800 into the county gas tax fund in three years, and received more than $22,000 from this fund."

"If elected supervisor from this district, I shall make a strenuous effort for a more equal division of this fund on behalf of the cities."

TRAVEL LECTURE TO BE GIVEN AT CHURCH

As a benefit for the Jesse Burns Missionary group of the First Methodist church, A. Nielsen will present an illustrated lecture entitled "A Trip Around the World" at the church Friday night at 7:45 o'clock. It was announced today by Mrs. Edward Burns, president of the group.

Thousands of persons have seen the pictures and heard the lecture and have found them fascinating, it was said. The lecture was presented one time in the past in Santa Ana and drew an interested crowd. The pictures to be shown consist of 200 hand-colored lantern slides, selected from a collection of more than 6000 stereopticon slides.

No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken.

Buccaneers Put On Assembly Program

Dressed as pirates, the Santa Ana Junior college Buccaneers, men's service club, sponsored the regular weekly assembly of the associated students yesterday.

Tap dancing and comical stunts were introduced by Adam Lehr, club president in charge of the program. As a special feature, John Farrar's eight-piece orchestra, secured for the Soph-Fresh dance at Huntington Beach Saturday night, played several numbers.

Newspaper Man to Lecture on Panama

Winfield Thompson, former newspaper man and probably one of the best known writers on yachting subjects in the United States, will deliver a lecture on "Panama and Its Road of Gold" at the meeting of the travel class of the adult education department of the city schools to be held at Frances Willard Junior high school tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Thompson will illustrate his lecture with a series of colored slides. The speaker was at one time a senior news writer on the Boston Globe.

LOWER GRADE GAS PRICE UP 1 CENT

The price of third grade gasoline in Santa Ana has been raised by all the major companies from 12-9-10 cents to 13-9-10 cents for the purpose of providing a more even spread between the grades of gasoline offered the public.

Standard white gasoline is being sold by the major companies at the same price, 17-1-2 cents per gallon and ethyl gasoline prices remain the same, 20-1-2 cents per gallon.

This is the second boost of one cent in the past few weeks.

ORANGE TINT FOR NIGHT

An orange-colored football is best for night games, the Oklahoma Aggies have found. Lynn Waldorf, coach, explains that this color does away with the glare of the white football.

THOUSANDS OF HUNGRY MEN IN LONDON TODAY

place and welcome the marchers. The notices emphasized in letters a foot high the slogan, "Smash the Means Test."

It appeared likely that Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald's announcement in Commons Tuesday that there would be no sweeping change in the means test would cause extremists to urge violence. Thousands of police were held ready for instant action in any threatened spot, however.

London was perturbed and uneasy over the outcome. It was feared that with the marchers as a nucleus, as many as 100,000 jobless and restless residents of London might join in the demonstration causing difficult outbreaks.

The march on London was described by authorities as "communist" and even the trades union congress described it as a "communist enterprise."

In the House of Commons, meanwhile, the government presented a united front against sympathizers with the movement. A labor motion of censure, attacking the means test and the increase in unemployment, was swept to defeat last night by 462 votes to 55. It was supported by David Lloyd George, leader of the former United Liberal party. He urged a public works program and attacked the empire tariff proposals.

White Elephant SALE

To some people White Elephants are valuable animals—but tomorrow at Almquist's—they will be a bunch of "slow movers" that have had the skids under them with small prices—These items all looked like "hot stuff" to us a few months ago, but the way they are sticking you would think they were held with a ball and chain. Be here early tomorrow—for at these ridiculous prices—things will happen fast—and how!

Designers get big money but they sure fell down on these—

SILK DRESSES

We thought they were worth $3.95 when we bought them 6 weeks ago. They are new styles and dark patterns—but the women don't want them for some reason. See if you do at—

UNIFORMS FOR H. S. BAND REQUESTED

Invitation from the Fullerton Armistice day celebration committee for Santa Ana schools to enter either a float or marching units in the Armistice day parade to be held in Fullerton this year, brought from the high school to the school board a request that a marching unit be entered and the amount usually spent for a float be turned over to the student body for use in purchasing uniforms for the high school band. The band will participate in the parade.

In a letter to the school board, D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school, pointed out that the expenditure of approximately $400 for attractive uniforms for the band is contemplated, and suggested that if the board would contribute $200 the student body fund would be drawn upon for the balance.

No action was taken on the matter other than postponing discussion on the proposal until next Tuesday night when the board is scheduled to hold a called meeting. W. M. Burke indicated that under present economic conditions he would be opposed to spending money to supply uniforms for the organization.

Local Briefs

A. H. Bauer, secretary of the Barber's Union of Santa Ana, spoke at Riverside and Elsinore yesterday in the interests of the candidacy of B. Z. McKinney, Democratic nominee for congressman from this district.

A regular bi-monthly meeting of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans, will be held in the American Legion hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight, it was announced today by Commander Earl Hawks. Routine business matters will be discussed and acted on.

The Viennese instrumental trio, composed of Carolyn Mueller, pianist; Phillip Hood, flutist, and Emelena Richards, violinist, junior college students, played on a program at the East Long Beach Methodist church last night.

Several Orange county physicians are expected to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Southern California Medical association which will be held Friday and Saturday in Riverside.

DEATH TODAY RESULTS FROM HEAD INJURY

Justus Fueller, 29, a sailor of the merchant marine, residing at 923 Palos Verdes, San Pedro, died at 3:35 a. m., today, in the San Clemente hospital of a fracture of the skull, received in an automobile accident on the night of October 22, near San Clemente.

His death is the seventy-seventh in the county this year, caused by automobile accidents.

According to information obtained from Coroner Earl Abbe today, Fueller had been lingering between life and death in the San Clemente hospital since the time of the crash. The accident occurred when the car in which he was riding with Mart Derberg, of the same address, ran off the road, the car striking a truck parked at one side.

The body of Fueller was removed to the Divil Funeral parlors and an inquest will be conducted by the coroner probably Friday.

Fueller was a native of Pennsylvania and leaves a widow, Mrs. Bernice Fueller, of San Pedro.

COLLINS BUSY WITH RACE FOR CONGRESS

District Attorney Sam L. Collins, candidate for congress in the nineteenth district on the Republican ticket, was back in his office today after making two speeches last night in behalf of his candidacy in Riverside and San Bernardino.

Tonight he will speak in Redlands and Riverside.

Speaking before the Fontana Chamber of Commerce last night, Collins received a very favorable response to the suggestion that a Tri-County Associated Chambers of Commerce be formed on the same basis that the three counties of the nineteenth district operate associated chambers in their respective districts.

The latest endorsement from agricultural circles for Collins is that of Arthur J. McFadden, of Santa Ana, vice president of the California Walnut Growers' association, president of the Southern California Persimmon Growers' association, director of the California Fruit Exchange and president of the Irvine Valencia Orange Growers' association; and Willard Smith, member of the board of supervisors and president of the Orange County Fruit Exchange.

JURORS GET CASE IN DAMAGE SUIT

Charles E. Hyatt's demand for damages totalling $13,457 for injuries received in an automobile accident went to a jury this morning in department three, superior court. The Simon Levy company, owners of the truck involved in the crash in which Hyatt was injured, was named defendant in the action.

The accident occurred January 6, last, at the intersection of Beverly and Oak streets in Santa Ana. Jurors hearing evidence in the case were: Myrtle Baum, Nell D. Winslow, Mrs. Bida Fryer, John Fletcher, William O'Day, Mrs. Clyde Watson, Laura K. Dominguez, Alva A. Hodson, Mrs. Mae Farrar, Mrs. E. J. Browne, A. C. Peck and Henry Bandick.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD MEETING HERE THURSDAY

Arrangements were completed today for a Democratic rally to be held tomorrow night in Moose hall, corner of Spurgeon and Fourth streets, at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced by Jules Markel, chairman of the Santa Ana campaign committee.

The main speaker of the evening will be A. P. Entenza, past national commander of the Spanish War Veterans, who is a former Republican candidate for congress in the Los Angeles district.

According to those who have heard him, the speaker delivers his addresses in a dynamic fashion.

The distinguished guest will be introduced at the meeting by Walter Tantlinger, past commander of Calumet camp, U. S. W. V.

Local Democratic candidates will be introduced and will offer short campaign talks. B. Z. McKinney, candidate for congress, Dave Wettlin, candidate for state senator, and Frank Harwood, candidate for state assemblyman, have indicated that they will be present.

By popular request, James L. Davis, local attorney, will deliver an address on behalf of the entire Democratic ticket.

Final arrangements for the formation of a Roosevelt-Garner Veterans of All Wars club, will be made at the Thursday meeting, according to those in charge.

DEMOCRATS AT ORANGE HEAR BANK ATTACK

An enthusiastic rally was held at Democratic headquarters on West Chapman avenue in Orange last night.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Thompson, of the Orange Democratic club, and speeches were made by D. G. Wettlin, Democratic candidate for state senator, Frank Harwood, Democratic candidate for assemblyman from this district; Attorney James L. Davis, chairman of the Orange County Democratic club, and Carl Helm, prominent Santa Ana Democrat.

In his talk, Wettlin discussed the Home Loan bank, pointing out that the Republican party leaders, for the purpose of holding out hope to a depressed people and for the purpose of getting votes, know full well that the bank plan has no practical effect and will not be of assistance to the people. Yet these party leaders are taking full credit for this "boon" to the American people, he said.

"Their claim that this bank would be the means of saving American homes from loss by foreclosure was merely a ruse to secure votes for the Republican administration," Wettlin declared. "We are finding out that these banks will loan only 40 per cent on the present day appraised valuation of the property. We find that the present day appraised value of the property is probably not more than 40 or 50 per cent of its normal value when the original loan was obtained, in other words, homes of a normal value of $5000 with an existing loan of $3000, against it would be appraised at not more than $3000 upon which the Home Loan bank would loan 40 per cent or $1200. This sum would, of course, be insufficient to pay the present loan of $3000," he said.

Harwood, in his talk, stressed the present chaotic condition of the Republican state administration, declaring, "We need a clean sweep of the state administration, just as much as we do in the national administration and that in order to do that it is necessary to send to the state senate and to the state assembly, candidates of the Democratic party who would not be in accord with the present policies of the Republican administration."

Davis and Helm both gave stirring talks on national issues.

Makes Appeal for Truck Repair Fund

Because the truck he used for collecting junk and earning his living was in an accident and cannot be used until it is repaired, George E. Parker, of Newport Beach, today appealed for aid to the amount of $8 for repairing his truck.

Parker, who is 71 years old, moved from Monrovia with his wife to a ranch on Newport Heights where he was able to eke out a living with his truck. Now, because his truck is laid up, he has gone to Monrovia to join his wife until aid is supplied him. He asked that communications be sent him general delivery, Monrovia.

NEW STORY OF DEATH CRASH TOLD OFFICERS

One of the two men arrested in connection with the automobile accident on South Main street, Orange last Friday night in which three Orange high school students were killed, was arraigned before Justice A. W. Swayze, in the Orange justice court today.

He is Arthur C. Mas, of 1905 North Main street, Santa Ana, who is charged by the district attorney with obstructing a public officer in the discharge of his duties. His hearing was set for November 5, at 9 a. m. and bail of $2000 was ordered in his case, which he failed to make.

Rolf Von Eckartsberg, asserted driver of the car which crashed into the students' machine, is still being held in the county jail, charged with manslaughter. He probably will be arraigned before Justice Swayze tomorrow morning.

Another version of the accident was told the district attorney's office today by George Duke, Register employee, who was a witness, but who did not testify before the coroner's jury. Duke's story tends to discredit the story as told the jury, in that his opinion is that the Ford car which was used by the students pulled out of its line of traffic and was passing another machine going in the same direction at the time of the crash.

The Duke car was at the rear of the Johnson machine, travelling in the same direction and Johnson's car passed around him, he said, a short time before the accident.

PLAN SPECIAL COUNTY C. OF C. TEACHERS FOR PLANS TOUR TO ILL. CHILDREN ALASKA, FAIR

Children, who, because of ill health or injuries, are prevented from attending school will not miss the advantages of education in the future. The Santa Ana board of education last night authorized Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson to appoint visiting teachers to serve these children.

Henderson said that there are approximately 20 children in Santa Ana who will not be able to attend school this year. The law provides that a visiting teacher may be sent to the children two hours each week. This two hours of instruction counts for a day's attendance at school and goes into the school system average daily attendance report from which the city and county estimate the amount to be paid per average daily attendance to the schools. In addition to this regular allowance the state allows up to $100, on the same basis for this type of instruction.

This visiting teacher service will be self supporting through the regular state and county appropriations and the additional state fund. Henderson said. The teachers will be paid on the basis of $1 per hour. Reimbursement of funds spent by the school board for this purpose will be made in the state appropriation for next year.

The Cherokee Indian alphabet contains 86 letters.

An extended tour through Canada, to Alaska and terminating in Chicago where the World Fair will be staged, will be sponsored by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County next year, with the departure date set for June 26, it was announced last night by George A. Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the transportation committee and manager of the trip.

The announcement was made at the regular monthly meeting of the Association held last night in La Vida Springs. E. P. Sharpley, Southern Pacific agent, elaborated on Raymer's announcement with details of the proposed tour.

The train will leave Santa Ana for Portland, Oregon, and will travel through Seattle, Washington, to British Columbia, where a trip will be taken around Victoria Island. From there the party will leave on a boat trip to Alaska and then embark for Jasper National park.

Following the trip through northern Canada on the railroad farthest north on the North American continent, the party will pass through Duluth on the way to Chicago, where six days will be spent to afford ample time for seeing the World Fair. Arrangements to return to Orange county from Chicago will be made individually.

The price of the trip, which will take 15 days, will include all hotel and other expenses. Opportunities for advertising Orange county will be taken advantage of on the tour. The tour is assured, it was announced, no matter how many sign up for the trip.

Arrest Two Men For Non Support

Two men were arrested by sheriff's officers last night on charges of non support of children. Both were lodged in the county jail, but neither as yet has been given a hearing.

James F. Relf, 29, of 436 East Chapman street, Orange, was arrested by Undersheriff C. W. Riggle. He later made bail of $500 for his appearance in court and was released from jail.

Frank Thornhill, 23, of 1608 South Arlington avenue, Los Angeles, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff E. T. Nickles and brought back to Santa Ana.

DIPLOMAS FOR NIGHT SCHOOL WORK ORDERED

Students in the Santa Ana Evening High school who receive the required number of credits and can pass the standard examination will be given diplomas upon graduation in the future.

This was decided last night at a meeting of the board of education when the board, on motion of Dr. Marguerite Baker, approved evening high school curriculum requirements for graduation and decided to recognize graduates with diplomas. The evening high school will receive $500 as maintenance bonus from the state upon graduation of at least one student.

Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson pointed out that 17 units of credit are demanded for graduation. One two-hour class meeting once a week for 32 weeks is the basis for one unit of credit. He said that such credit is to be granted only when through outside assignments and the use of standard tests the student shows an accomplishment equivalent to academic tests.

W. M. Burke, member of the board, said that he is opposed to the plan of giving diplomas for evening high school work on the grounds that it will place the evening high school graduate on the same basis as a graduate from the day school who devotes his entire time to completion of the four-year course. He said that in his opinion it will lower the standards for the man who acquires his diploma through hard work.

Henderson pointed out that to fulfill requirements imposed for graduation from evening high school a student would almost have to have a certain number of credits from high school or other school. He submitted three types of evaluation of credits consisting of: Credits from accredited high school; credits from other schools; and credits granted for actual accomplishment outside of formal schools.

SPANISH WAR VETS HEAR CANDIDATE

W. C. Jerome, candidate for supervisor, delivered a brief address at a pot-luck supper and meeting of the Calumet camp, United Spanish War Veterans, held last night in the Knights of Columbus building.

In addition to the address, an elaborate program of musical entertainment was presented. The Mustel Trio presented a group of instrumental selections. The Harrell quartet was also featured on the program, presenting a group of vocal selections with Miss Carrie Sexton accompanying at the piano. Presentations by Little Miss Boyd, juvenile reader, and Miss Emma Williams, advanced pupil, both of the Holly Lash Viscel studio, were enjoyed by those present, as was the tap dancing of Mrs. Louise McCain.

The committee in charge of the meeting last night was Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tautlinger, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Trueblood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Tibbets, Mrs. Martha Posposil, Mrs. C. S. Schwalter, Mrs. Nannie B. Reed and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Patmor, according to Adjutant J. C. Farrar.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

BOSS
Police Chief Glassford was not exactly squeezed out of office by the White House. Despite what you see in the movies things are never done here so crudely.

The pincers were applied with such finesse that this official demise might be called a suicide, and not a murder.

Glassford's troubles with the White House started when he resisted the administration policy toward the Bonus army. The word went down the line on the inside that the sooner he left the happier the White House would be.

After that things began getting harder and harder for Glassford. Finally he found his wings clipped until it hurt. He had to resign to save his self-respect.

Outside of it, Glassford privately says he has never voted in his life, and does not know a Republican from a Democrat. He was taken up by the Liberals here after the E. F. E. flareup. He may be in with them now.

A certain high judicial official (it would be contempt of court to mention his name) called the Police Chief to his home for a conference at that time. The official told Glassford to stick to his post despite pressure on him from above. The police chief was promised support from that quarter which incidentally is about as high support as you can get in this country.

It was not high enough.

JOY

The boys who are running the Republican campaign show are considerably peppered up.

That goes for Mr. Hoover, Postmaster General Brown and Treasury Secretary Mills. Their reports from the outlying precincts predict that the swing during the last two weeks will turn the tide in their favor. Brown really believes it. Mills may have his doubts but he does not show them. Mr. Hoover is keeping his own counsel.

They all are particularly pleased by their latest confidential information from California, Iowa and Kansas.

There continues to be a lack of concrete evidence of any change in the situation. Democrats are about ready to concede privately that Roosevelt is not gaining any votes. They think he may be losing some.

Polls cannot be trusted but for whatever their conclusions are worth they show a small trend to Hoover in the last few weeks.

They are untrustworthy because votes being counted now were cast ten days or two weeks ago. A sweep since then would not show.

MILLS

Treasury Secretary Mills has privately gone down deep in his pocket for funds to help the Republican campaign along. He recently guaranteed the cost of a national broadcasting hookup when the question of whether they could afford it was raised.

Mills is working harder than anyone in the campaign outside of the President. His day never closes now until after midnight. This energy and money will keep him near the top in the party no matter what happens to the ticket.

SHOTS

A movie photographer has been playing a cat and mouse game with Mr. Hoover for several weeks.

His organization wrote a closeup of the President to use in an election film. All the Hoover closeups in their files show Mr. Hoover talking. They want him silent.

Mr. Hoover does not like close-ups and will not pose. The photographer goes around on the sly with a 12 inch lens on his camera trying to get a closeup from a distance.

Mr. Hoover knows a 12 inch lens when he sees one and has thwarted the photographer's plans at least three times.

MARKS

Republicans altered their plans about blasting Roosevelt with charges that he was involved in German marks. Part of the evidence they have is being handed over to a certain senator for use in a speech. It will state the idea that Roosevelt was involved in international financial affairs. No insinuation will be made that there was anything particularly wrong about it.

That is entirely different from what was originally laid out.

NOTES

Speaker Garner is so tickled about election prospects that he stutters when he talks. He made up his mind last week that the Democrats were going to carry New York.

That ended any doubt in his mind because those 47 electoral votes make a difference of 94 to the man who loses them. George Fearon, Republican Senate leader in New York, spent five hours with Mr. Hoover's confidential secretary, Lawrence Richey.

He declined to disclose his mission. He was giving Richey the lowdown on Roosevelt's record in New York state, apparently for use in a Hoover speech.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

The poker game between Tammany and the New York banks is still going on with the city budget as the stake. Tammany is bluffing but the banks are bluffing also and that Tammany's hand is actually the stronger of the two.

Neither side is anxious for a deadlock and one or the other must call or drop before long. The showdown will come when the Board of Estimate convenes again on October 27 and 28.

You can write this down as the most certain outcome. Tammany will yield just as much as it has to yield and no more—and the City payrolls will be met.

TAMMANY

The Tammany love feast staged recently—with Al Smith as a speaker—was not exactly all that the name implied. Smith's demands for economy were out of line with the ideas of organization leaders. Insiders believe that Smith's talk was the opening gun of a campaign to place him at the head of the City democracy by the end of 1933.

The question of who is to succeed next Mayor O'Brien as Surrogate is another interesting angle. The Governor will appoint. Smith backs Judge Olvany—Tammany boss before Curry—for the job. Curry's candidate is Judge Dooling, chairman of Tammany's Law Committee.

Judge Rosenman—Roosevelt-sponsored candidate for the Supreme Court judgeship absorbed by Curry in the Steuer-Hogstadter deal—is another possibility. The actual choice will be a beacon for possible future developments.

WALKER

Jimmy Walker is not politically dead by any means. Some of the Tammany leaders still think he did a foolish thing when he resigned. He would certainly like his old job back and he is likely to be used by the leaders in working out the ticket.

Bitterness among Walker supporters when Hearst deserted him in his encounter with the Governor is still strong. Paul Block's declaration in favor of Hoover (i.e. against Roosevelt) paves the way for a get-together if Walker ever turns up on top.

STOCKS

One would-be smart boy dropped $25,000 in 20 minutes one day recently. He had a hunch to go short of U. S. Steel, American Telephone and United Aircraft. A lot of other people had a hunch to buy at the same time.

Tobacco stocks have been a particular target for bears lately. This selling was a maneuver by professionals to drive the whole market down so they could unload their short holdings in other stocks. Tobacco was picked because they have been stronger than most and it was figured that weakness there would frighten the amateur into a general shakeout. It was a neat trick but it didn't quite come off. There weren't enough amateurs left.

DIVIDEND

There is excellent reason to believe that the General Motors dividend will be declared again without reduction. Powerful sponsors are willing to gamble once more in the hope of an upturn.

FAVORS PLAN OF SPREADING EMPLOYMENT

Upholding a recommendation made by the state chamber of commerce, the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, meeting last night in La Brea Springs, voted to go on record in favor of an employment staggering plan to "open the door for a permanent adjustment of the employment situation."

V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that after the oranges have been picked there will be considerably less employment in Orange county and asked the Associated to consider the matter of a work-sharing plan.

Following a report by Secretary Harry May on a meeting held in Orange during the past month when a movement was started to assemble and distribute data on Orange county with the view of affecting industries, Johnson declared that since the publication of reports on the meeting many inquiries have come in. "The trouble is," he pointed out, "that all of them want money to start their projects. They want to experiment on your money."

Orange Marketing

J. A. Smiley, state director of the Farm Bureau, reported for Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg that he was not able to be present at the meeting. Proponents of the plan to prorate orange shipments are marking time now, he said, and have given up hopes of putting the plan into operation this year. Oranges were damaged somewhat by the desert winds, he said, but orchards that were protected by wind-breaks were not seriously hurt.

Nat Neff, county superintendent of roads, reported that the county planning commission is working on an ordinance to restrict and control the placing of billboards in Orange county, in an attempt to develop control of the situation.

President Ross A. Shafer, who presided over the meeting, announced progress in the development of a county-wide water conservation program, declaring that friction between groups is rapidly dissolving. The joint water committee, composed of organizations and individuals in the county interested in the water situation, will meet in Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce offices tomorrow night.

Harry May announced details of the Armistice day celebration which will be held in Fullerton this year.

O. T. Stephens extended an invitation to the Associated to meet at La Habra at the next meeting, which will be held on December 6. The invitation was accepted.

BOARD DEFERS DECISION ON CASE APPEAL

Decision as to whether or not the Santa Ana board of education will appeal from recent court decisions ordering the return of Misses Bertha Briney and Lois Gould to the city teaching staff was delayed one week, when the board met in regular session last night. The board will hold an adjourned session next Tuesday night.

George Wells, chairman of the board was absent from last night's session and other members of the board expressed unwillingness to take any action on the matter in his absence.

A. G. Diehl appeared before the board and said that he was speaking as a taxpayer in the interest of the two teachers, Miss Briney and Miss Gould. He urged the board to accept the decision handed down by Judge Erwin Owen of Kern county who, last week ordered issuance of a writ of mandate instructing the board to return both teachers to duty, and save costs of further litigation.

Teacher Appears

Miss Briney addressed the board and urged that she and Miss Gould be returned to work.

W. M. Burke, board member, informed the board that he has studied the briefs filed in both cases and read the decision of the court and that in his opinion Miss Gould did not have a chance for reinstatement should the case be appealed and that there is an equal chance that the higher court would set aside the decision in the case of Miss Briney.

He also pointed out that the board must have a definite decision in both cases and that the total cost of the two superior court hearings and appeals to the higher court will not go beyond 25 per cent of the salary the board will have to pay the two teachers should they be returned to work. Burke said that there is no place in the school system for Miss

SCHOOL LUNCH FUND FOR NEEDY IS ESTABLISHED

Instruction and relief work among the children of needy families were combined last night by action of the Santa Ana board of education in authorizing expenditure of $6 per 100 pupils for home economics instruction in all schools where this expenditure is requested. The money will come from the fund for instructional supplies.

The action was taken on request of Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson who said that the money will be used in purchasing supplies for use in preparing and serving light lunches to undernourished children from needy families. This practice was adopted last year in the Fremont school and other Mexican units and proved so successful that on suggestion of Dr. Marguerite Baker, member of the board of education, the program was suggested for all the elementary schools where such relief is needed.

Henderson said that the sixth grade children aid in preparing the food which consists principally of soup. They also assist in serving the lunch and later in clearing the dining room and cleaning the equipment. This educational relief work was extended to the Edison school two weeks ago and the children there have been serving lunches to 44 children each day since then. In the Logan school, Henderson said, the teachers have been providing milk and graham crackers for 80 children.

Henderson pointed out that in many of the elementary schools the teachers are carrying the burden of providing lunches for needy children and authorization of the expenditure will relieve them of a portion of this burden. It is estimated that the new program will cost approximately $900 for the year.

Gould as the subject she was teaching has been eliminated and that it would be difficult to place Miss Briney.

RELIEF NEEDS INCREASE EIGHT-FOLD; SACRIFICIAL GIVING SEEN AS SOLUTION

By PAUL A. SCHOELLKOPF
Vice President, National Association of Community Chests and Councils

The depression has at least doubled, trebled and quadrupled one of the greatest businesses of our country—that of social welfare. In the commercial world such a gigantic increase of customers and trade would spell good business. In social service work it comes as a result of poor business and means that unemployment and human suffering in the United States are at their peak.

Demand on social service agencies for the first six months of 1932 have exceeded all previous years. People who have given liberally to social work in the past are feeling that with reduced incomes they must curtail contributions. Community Chests are therefore faced on the one hand with increasing demands for service and on the other with threatened lower budgets.

The demands for the primary needs of man—food, shelter and clothing—have increased eight-fold since 1929. The depression has been no respecter of persons or years. Many older people who felt themselves financially secure have had their savings of years swept away and now must accept charity. In the productive period of life, from 20 to the early 50's, thousands have lost their jobs.

The teen-aged group has been hit also. Boys and girls finishing school are unable for the most part to adjust themselves vocationally. If they are permitted to form in gangs and congregate on street corners, we know we shall have increased delinquency and crime to face in their future. Therefore, character-building agencies are needed today as never before in order to cope with the youth problem which the present crisis has complicated so greatly.

From the health field we learn that malnutrition among children is on the increase and that our public health nurses are having more and more demands for free services. The same is true of our hospitals and other health agencies.

All these needs—needs which must be filled—confront the welfare budget maker in each of our communities. Balancing budgets in welfare and relief work and meeting the various community needs are perhaps the most difficult and harrowing tasks assigned to any person or group of persons today.

Of course, the task of community budgeting is finally solved in the response of the citizens at campaign time. It is the loyal and generous giving of every citizen which makes it possible to balance the budget for the year to come. As budgets are prepared for 1933, it becomes evident that it will take sacrificial giving to meet the great need. If we are anxious to have the period pass rapidly and better times appear, we, as individuals, can make no more intelligent or hopeful move in this direction than by combining forces this fall and winter to see that destitute people in the communities in which we live are given the assistance needed to put them back on their feet as soon as possible.

ISSUE ORDER TO STOP TEACHERS CAMPAINING

Charges that teachers in the Santa Ana schools were using their positions in the city schools to campaign for certain issues appearing on the November ballot were made last night by W. M. Burke, member of the board of education when that organization held its monthly session.

Burke said that it had been called to his attention that teachers in some of the schools have been sending notes, by their pupils, to parents instructing them how to vote on certain propositions. He said that he believed that a dangerous situation might develop when teachers use their positions in an attempt to influence people in the community.

He said that teachers have a right to espouse any cause as individuals but do not have the right to use the children under their care as teachers, for the dissemination of propaganda. Other members of the board said that similar reports had been made to them.

Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson said that he will issue a bulletin immediately warning all teachers that this practice must cease.

Waterspouts have been seen at sea more than a mile high.

ACTIVE CHEST CAMPAIGN TO BE CONTINUED

The active campaign of the Community Chest for the $53,000 welfare and relief fund will be continued at least another week before final clean-up activities are started, officials have announced.

"There are fully as many people who have not given and who are able to do so, as there are ones who have done a share in this civic project," W. J. Tway, Community Chest president and campaign chairman, said today. "We feel that during the next seven days that these people should be given an opportunity to do their part so that we are asking all of our volunteers to stay with the work until it is completed."

"The success of the appeal is dependent upon the people who are able, but as yet have not done their part. If we can maintain the present average level of giving and secure at least as many more pledges as thus far have been made, then we will be able to reach our minimum goal."

The establishments department of the campaign is continuing its lead toward its assigned quota, over all other six major divisions of the campaign. However, John Cranston, chairman, states that it is essential that firm chairmen who have not yet made the complete solicitation of their employees, do so at once as this division is striving to finish its work by the end of the present week.

There has been a marked slowdown in returns from the advance gifts committee and vice chairmen are again asking that persons in this classification who have not as yet made pledges, do so at once. This will be necessary if the average of new pledges is to be held to the level essential to the appeal success, it is said.

Through meetings of the residential department and the business division of the campaign on Thursday, it is expected that these sections will be able to bring their present showings up a great deal nearer to assigned quotas.

CHAMBER PLANS WATER SESSION IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Oct. 26.—Placentia Chamber of Commerce is planning a night meeting and inviting surrounding communities, to hear men talk on the water situation in Orange county. The water meeting proposal followed a report by E. J. Menard yesterday that the Federal Land bank will not loan money in Orange county, and that he found it impossible to even discover who the representative is in Orange county.

He said he assisted a friend in locating the offices in Los Angeles county, and that they were informed the money is not being loaned in Orange county because of the depth of the underground water levels in the county. According to Menard, these levels must be above 50 feet to get a loan.

E. M. Everett said he knew the bank has loaned money in Orange county, but said his information is because ranchers want too large loans on their property.

In response to Menard's statement that the loans are not forthcoming because of water conditions, Harrison H. Hale declared that if water in the upper valley were only 50 feet below the surface, the lower part of the county would be in swamp. It was a result of this talk, and Hale's assertion that facts concerning water cannot be gotten even before the Associated Chambers of Commerce, that the Placentia chamber decided to hold a water meeting.

Others speaking on the conditions in the Loan bank were Harry Easton, Frank Rosapaw, Fred Valle and Louis Jacobson.

In speaking on amendments, LeRoy Lyon suggested he personally is voting "No" on No. 4, removing the restriction upon use of state's half of highway transportation taxes, and said his chief reason is the "great urge to divide the tax money appears to be that the tax money is an obvious plum for politicians to grab from, and it should be kept for use on road expenditures.

E. J. Menard urged voting "Yes" on No. 11, a tideland grant to the City of Huntington Beach.

Harry O. Easton presided at the session. Next week Menard will take the opposing side and Dr. Guy L. Kay the affirmative side on propositions No. 1 and 2 on the ballot.

POULTRYMEN HOLD SESSION THURSDAY

Plans for participation in the annual meeting of the State Farm Bureau Poultry department, which is to be held at Marysville November 17, will be made at the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Poultry department tomorrow in the school administration building, 1612 North Main street.

Other matters of vital interest to poultrymen will be considered, among which are the state-wide breeding program and the Accredited Breeders and Hatcheries Project. The Poultry Meat Inspection committee, appointed at a previous meeting, will give a progress report on its study of the marketing methods of this product. Election of officers is also scheduled.

All persons interested in poultry production are invited to attend, according to I. E. Heying, chairman of the department.

Painter Injured In Ladder Fall

'CRUSADER', 'CRASH' AT WEST COAST

"The Crash," latest starring vehicle for Ruth Chatterton who plays opposite her recently wed husband, George Brent, has been attracting attention at the Fox West Coast theater since Monday, but the other big feature, which is showing on the same bill deserves much credit also.

It is "The Crusader," dynamic story of a district attorney who starts out to clean up a city and who learns that his wife once was a member of the underworld and his sister a murderess. How he faces the situation and the gripping finish of the story makes for unusual entertainment.

H. B. Warner is the district attorney, Evelyn Brent is the wife and Ned Sparks the newspaper reporter who uncovers the story. Miss Chatterton's new film depicts a woman, used to everything, who suddenly faces poverty due to the crash, and the reaction that takes place.

DEMAND $25,000 FOR BOY'S HURTS

Chester F. Roberts, 10-year-old Santa Ana boy, in a suit filed in superior court yesterday through his father, H. F. Roberts, is demanding $25,000 from O. I. Hand for injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by Hand.

According to the complaint young Roberts was riding his bicycle on South Main street on July 20, last, when it was struck by the automobile driven by Hand. The Roberts boy was hurled to the pavement and received a concussion of the brain in addition to lacerations of the left leg and painful bruises about the body.

The accident, according to the complaint, was due to the carelessness and negligent operation of his automobile by Hand.

CONTRIBUTION FROM FORD IS EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(UP)—The recent close association of Henry Ford with President Hoover's campaign for reelection led to reports today the Republican high command is expecting a large campaign contribution from the Detroit industrialist.

Ford accompanied the president back from the latter's Detroit speaking engagement Saturday night but left Washington for the return trip shortly after the party arrived here.

4-H Club Council Names Officers At La Verne Friday

The final Inter-county 4-H Club council for the year will be held at La Verne in the banquet room of the Methodist church, Third and F streets, at 6:30 p. m., Friday, according to Eric E. Eastman, assistant farm adviser.

Following a turkey dinner, the election of officers for the year will be held. Plans for 4-H day at the Great Western Livestock show November 26 at the Los Angeles Stock yards, will be considered.

The Inter-county 4-H Club council is composed of leaders and assistant leaders from the counties of Orange, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, Imperial and Ventura.

Business Group To Plan Meeting

The better business committee of the Orange County Builders' Exchange will hold a meeting in the Builders' Exchange building here tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced today by Walter Sorenson, chairman of the committee.

Plans will be made for the next general membership meeting which is to be held in Kettner's cafe next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock. Frederic Sanford, secretary-manager of the exchange, will be in charge of the program.

Young People To Hold Zone Rally

Orange county zone rally of Church of the Nazarene Young People's society, will be held Friday, October 28, at the Whittier First Church of the Nazarene, at 7:30 p. m., where the Rev. J. Proctor Knott, pastor of Hollywood Church, will speak on "Why I Am a Nazarene."

All young people from the Orange county churches are expected to attend. Fullerton young people are to provide some special numbers for the program.

Court Notes

Foreclosure of a mortgage on Orange county property given as security for a loan of $12,000 is being sought in a suit filed in superior court by Mrs. Carrie S. Hetebrink of Fullerton against Mrs. Eva Brunet and the Bank of America National Trust and Savings association as executor of the estate of Oscar Brunet. The promissory note signed by the Brunets was dated October 1, 1929.

'SMILIN' THROUGH' ENDS RUN TONIGHT

"Smilin' Through," now showing at the Fox Broadway theater, the screen version of the famous stage play by the same name, undoubtedly is one of the most pleasing pictures Santa Ana has seen in a long time.

With Norma Shearer, Frederic March and Leslie Howard, one of the world's greatest love stories is unfolded in such a manner that the picture will be remembered here as probably the best of its kind of the year.

Miss Shearer adds new laurels, while all three of the stars give performances which do them credit. Those who remember the story know its possibilities. These three actors add greatly to its strength and make "Smilin' Through" one picture that stands head and shoulders above the general run. The film ends its showing tonight.

for Halloween

Laces continue to come, trailing their flock of adjectives, but since these are mostly light weight words as "frothy" and "gossamer," they do not appear to greatly affect this oldest of filmy materials.

GREEN GABLES, 2115 N. Main. At the recent style revue which GREEN GABLES put on by request every dress modeled drew enthusiastic comment and applause. Among the favorites, however, calling for visits to "Your Fashion Shop" early the following day, were the new brick red in light wool; one of the smartest models seen this season; a black and white rabbit hair wool, also for street and sports; a 2-purpose dress in one of the smart new browns, of waffle weave crepe, with the season's biggest hit, that clever little cape affair; a Lucile Parry replica, a new green, a Burgundy red with the fashionable dyed lace yoke trim; evening gowns in shell pink and black hammered satin—These are but a few of the 26 dresses so interestingly modeled during the evening.

Co. lives up to its name in continuous safe and economical service daily. Going to market—shopping—the dressmaker, beauty parlor, theatre or luncheon engagement—PHONE 5600 and a COURTESY CAB will make it easier for you; save you time and worry, and money.

DR. ROBERT O. GROVER, Colonel Therapist, 1227 So. Main. Don't take anyone's word for it, go and see Dr. Grover for yourself, and learn how he treats suffering mankind to make them normal, healthy beings they can and should be. Dr. Grover specializes in innumerable ailments of the internal organs. He has beautifully equipped, modern offices, and welcomes a visit of inspection from those desiring to become acquainted with his methods of treatment. There is no obligation whatsoever, and the doctor will be glad to see you whether you are a patient or just an inquiring visitor.

RADIO AS YOU GO

LIGGETT RADIO SHOP, 213 N. Broadway. PHILCO springs another unique surprise on the radio trade—offering a two-in-one, 5-tube, superheterodyne "Baby Grand" for $39.95. We don't know what the official name is of this little radio with all the advantages of both console and cabinet, but "Consolette" or "Cabinole" would be equally fitting. Take this little Philco fishing. It's a Lucile Parry replica, a new green, a Burgundy red with the fashionable dyed lace yoke trim; evening gowns in shell pink and black hammered satin—These are but a few of the 26 dresses so interestingly modeled during the evening.

WALTER E. WELLS, NAVAJO RUGS, INDIAN JEWELRY, 519 N. Main. The Indian country comes to Main street—Mr. Wells has spent many years at Indian trading posts in New Mexico, Arizona, and Nevada. This is at once apparent in the genuine coin silver jewelry, set with native turquoise from the Nevada mines of the American Gem Co. Also the beautiful Indian-made blankets and Chimayo (serape) coats, each with the fascinating story of its tribe. Book ends of petrified wood and pottery in many useful and ornamental designs make this "Main Street" trading post quite the most interesting place in town.

Rust and Copper are the newest addition to the full color card of reds this season—not replacing the many shades of wine, beet and Burgundy, only making merrier the color schemes.

SUPERIOR SCHOOL OF BEAUTY, 410 1/2 N. Main. Satisfied customers are but the usual thing at the "Superior." Students are carefully trained and closely supervised by expert instructor during the wrapping and steaming of those lovely "Superior" permanents. Croq. or spiral waves for $1.00, $1.35, $1.50 and Combination Wave for $2.00; FREE haircut, shampoo and three months' FREE care included with each permanent. All materials for beauty work used at the Superior school are of a very high grade.

COCHEMS, The Artist Photographer, 304 N. Sycamore. The season of gifts inevitably makes people in general camera-minded—Because everyone appreciates the fact that there is no gift above that of a portrait of oneself—"The gift that only you can give" the "Artist Photographer" quietly reminds you from a placard among the beautiful character studies in portraiture on his studio walls. There's such comfortable assurance of the right thing when you order a COCHEMS portrait; for we see evidence in his studio that he has pleased a large number of famous artists with his photographic art.

THE NEW YORK HAT WORKS, 322 W. Fourth, next to Walker State theatre. A good hat, like a good suit of clothes, deserves good treatment in the way of cleaning. Take your soiled, slouchy looking hat to the New York Hat Works. They will clean it and reblock it for only 75 cents, and no one could possibly guess it was not an entirely new hat. Fifteen years in the same location is not a bad record, and all this time the New York Hat Works has been serving Santa Ana and Orange county residents with first class hat cleaning and reblocking.

ORANGE COUNTY IGNITION WORKS, 302 E. Fifth. WINDSHIELD WIPERS should not be neglected until the rainy season starts. A blade that has old rubber and sticks in a downpour is likely to become seriously expensive. The Ignition Works has in a fresh stock of these windshield wipers for 50 cents each. And if your windshield wiper has motor trouble they can adjust that also, or furnish you a new motor. A cracked, worn blade in your windshield wiper is sure to leave you in the lurch one of these fine, misty mornings, or nights. Better see about it in time.

BAND BOX GIFT SHOP, 1164 B. E. Fourth. A novel gift that is also quite useful may be selected from the "Band Box" collection of Bowers pottery in hand decorated salad bowls. There are different sizes, some with fork and spoon, others with spoon only. 75c and $1.00—a gift to make any woman smile with pride and appreciation.

Typewriters

R. A. TIERNAN TYPEWRITER CO., 401 W. Fourth. STERLING MODEL, the new Smith-Corona portable, has not been surpassed in a light weight machine to do heavy weight duty. It is possible, and easy, to do the same work with the new Smith-Corona portable as is done with its big brother, L. C. Smith's full size typewriter. All the Smith-Corona portable asks of you, or me, is reasonable care. It will not complain or fumble with any amount of work run through it. We have seen it thoroughly tested this past year. Let TIERNAN'S show you how this wonderful little machine with a big "heart" works.

Nut and Cheese Loaf (Tested)

MIX 1 cup grated yellow cheese with 1 cup chopped walnut meats and 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs. Fry in 1 tbs. butter, a small onion chopped fine. Add 1/2 cup tomato juice and cook until the onion is soft. Then add other ingredients, seasoning with salt, pepper and a few drops of tobacco. Put the mixture into a shallow greased baking dish and brown well in oven. Serve with tomato juice poured over loaf.

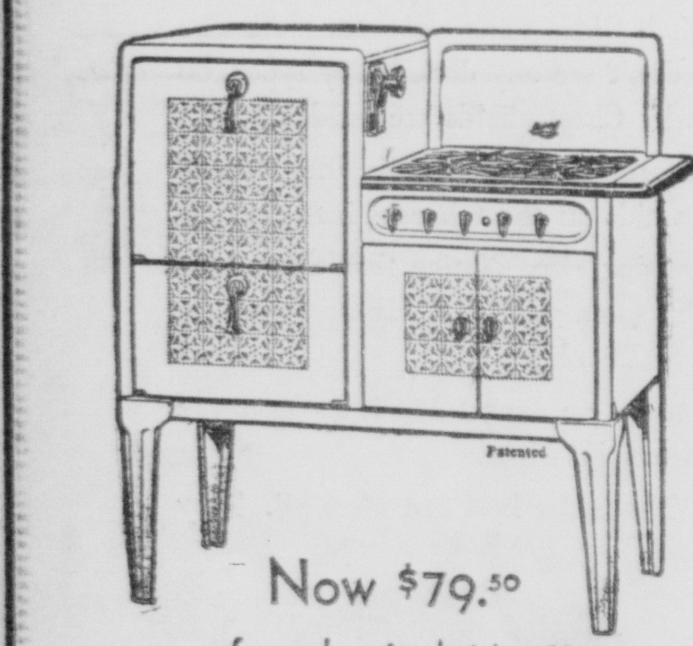

PLATT AUTO SERVICE, 3rd Bush. Convenient, economical, and highly efficient, Platt's service station is waiting for you at all hours with all the high grade oils and gasoline, the complete Alemite service for giving your car a hundred per cent greasing job; washing, polishing and parking by the hour, day, week or month at extremely reasonable prices. Platt's is the place—and it's not a step out of your way coming and going.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES GAS COMPANY

HIGH SUMMER

by Booth Tarkington

SYNOPSIS FOR PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

A "high summer" was how Mrs. Wheat described the social activities of a fashionable New England seashore resort to Ambrose Trainband, the Brendle's gardener. Mrs. Wheat presided in the Brendle kitchen and exulted in the triumphs of her employers, especially when it became generally understood that Miss Kitty was as good as engaged to Norris Enderton, scion of the resort's social leaders. Kitty was 19 and pretty. The only thing to mar her summer had been that Joe Nutter suddenly developed a violent case of young love and accused her of avoiding him and "angling" for Norris. Just after the Brendles closed the season brilliantly with a dance at the Beach Club came the Wall Street crash. Mr. Enderton had switched his investments to government securities but Mr. Brendle's automobile accessory factory went plunging on the rocks. He had to sell his showy home in a Middle Western city, mortgage his seashore cottage, sell his cars and dismiss all his servants except Mrs. Wheat, but Mr. Trainband received his monthly check throughout the winter. At the opening of the next season, Mr. Trainband noticed a great change in Melroy Brendle. He found the griggle, undersized 14-year-old boy of the previous year down at the old wharf where the fishing boats were tied up in earnest conversation with Chid Hillibane, young son of a fisherman. Melroy's question indicated that he wanted to know whether there was money to be made working as a fisherman.

INSTALLMENT NINETEEN

Mr. Trainband stood with his gaze fixed upon the back of the new Melroy, whose gestures appeared to become argumentative. Mr. Trainband's mouth closed by almost imperceptible stages; he went his way, and his mind was full of tumultuous semblances of thought. Something seemed to be trying to express itself to him and though it failed, he had a dim sense of it. What he struggled to deduce was that in spite of a deep-set creed of his, "Money can do anything," the lack of it may do as much. The stirrings within him culminated in the production of a husky whisper beneath some wisps of mustache.

"My Godfrey Mighty!"

When he reached the Brendles' driveway entrance and passed between the stone gateposts, he renewed his rehearsal with increased vehemence—"Listen, Mrs. Brendle! No man can't be pushed too hard." But, as he went onward upon the curving way, and the green terrace and the long front of the cottage lay before him, he decided to postpone the hour of actual debate as long as possible. Crossing the laundry yard, he paused beneath a window from which the broad, brown face of Mrs. Fluvia Wheat had often greeted him smilingly in better days; then, with a thought of her hospitable coffee, he mounted the steps and entered the kitchen. It was as neat and pleasant-smelling as ever, and though Mrs. Wheat was not there, a coffee-pot steamed upon the stove. He pondered; then sat down to wait for her, and waited not long before he heard her voice. It came from the closely adjacent butler's pantry, which she and someone else had evidently just entered from the dining-room beyond.

"Don't take on, honey! You ain't see right good the window fly-screen, so maybe it ain't him at all. Don't borrow no more trouble, honey, leastways not until you sure you got it an' know it's real."

But at the sound of the other voice, Melroy started, and moved cautiously toward the outer door of the kitchen; for this was the voice of Mrs. Brendle in pain. "Don't talk to me! I know what I saw! Fluvia, if Walter Brendle's treated me like that and—"

"No, no!" Mrs. Wheat cried comfortingly. "Mist' Brendle ain't for did it. Look to me, the window, more like jes' it were some skaycrow blowin' up the drive-ay."

"It wasn't! After all the sacrifices I've made, my husband breaks his word to me!"

"No'm, he ain't go' do it!" Mrs. Wheat insisted. "He promise' you if you be willin' to come back here this summer you go' have a gardener an' nice flowers, an' Mist' Brendle ain't never broke his word!"

"He has!" Mrs. Brendle cried. "He has! He has! He's got that old thing back—" But there her articulation blurred into an exasperated sobbing that made words unrecognizable, and, as the sounds seemed to approach the kitchen, Mr. Trainband departed noiselessly into the outer air.

In the former butler's pantry, meantime, Mrs. Wheat increased her persuasiveness. "Evvathing go be sweet as dewdrops, honey," she said to her mistress, who had drooped, walling, into a chair by the swing-door to the kitchen. "We still ice cream family; go' hol' up our heads with the best of 'em same as las' year. Ain't go take nobody's dust! We go step out right spang in the front rank!"

"We can't! We can't! We can't! Never again!" Mrs. Brendle moaned. "And to think! I let him talk me into coming back here—here! And now he's broken his word and got that old thing back here—"

"No'm, he ain't!" Mrs. Wheat interrupted earnestly. "Honey, don't you take on so when evvathing go be all right! You ain't got the strength to reproach Mr. Brendle no more. You right in the mids' 'las here nervous breakdown an' you ain't well enough to revile him no more, an' he need some res' too. S'pose maybe he did 'gaze that old cole stove turkey again, why, that go be all right—maybe Mist' Trainband learn how to work more better this year than—"

But Mrs. Brendle sprang to her feet, shouting dolorously, "You admit it! You admit it yourself, Fluvia Wheat! I did see that Ambrose Trainband on the driveway and you were deceiving me!" She turned impetuously to the door leading into the dining-room. "Now, let me find Walter Brendle!"

She found him immediately. Mr. Brendle, worn-looking and more grizzled than he had been last year, was just entering the dining-room in search of his breakfast; but he came to a halt and brought upon his face an expression of patience when his wife confronted him. She was followed by the remonstrating Fluvia, who still sought to calm her.

"Be quiet, Fluvia!" Mrs. Brendle exclaimed. "Walter Brendle what was the one thing you promised me if I consented to come back here and face people this summer?"

"Oh, that?" Mr. Brendle said uneasily. "Oh yes. Yes; I meant to explain about that on the train. I suppose you mean poor Trainband."

"I do!"

"Well, you see, dear, I thought we might ask him to—take on the duties of the gardening in the front of the house in addition to his other work, just for this season, and—"

"Tell me this!" she interrupted ominously. "Have you been sending him his pay all winter?"

Mr. Brendle's complexion unfortunately became brick-red, and, although Mrs. Wheat, standing behind her mistress, coughed at him significantly and shook her head, signaling for the lie direct, he let his voice wander among betraying pronouns. "Well, I—he—well, we—"

"You have!" she cried. "You discharged MacIntosh; you discharged Boling; you discharged Gaston; you deprived me of Orlena and Carrie and Zebella, and yet you grotesquely sent his pay just as usual!"

Her husband's eyes could not meet hers; he became guiltily placative. "Now, dear, don't let yourself get so excited. It's not good for you, and poor old Trainband'll do his best, I'm sure, if we put it to him tactfully. You see, I knew the others—MacIntosh and the rest—could find other jobs; but poor old Trainband, most likely wouldn't be able to get himself one, because, of course, he isn't so very—"

"Competent!" Mrs. Brendle readily supplied the word. "I see! No-body else'll have him, you say to yourself, 'so I'll turn him over to my wife!' No wonder you concealed such a plot from me!"

"Plot?" Mr. Brendle murmured haggardly; then, ignoring Mrs. Wheat's loud coughing, unwisely thought to help his cause by further explanations. "You see, dear, Kitty believed I'd maybe better not tell you until we got here, or just before. She said—"

"Who?" Mrs. Brendle asked violently. "Who said? You dare to stand there and tell me you put that burden on your daughter—forcing her to conceal such a thing from her mother? Walter, Walter, hadn't you put enough on the shoulders of our children without that? You make them suffer reprobation that'll do ghastly harm to their characters later—"

"I don't!" Mr. Brendle interjected with some spirit. "I haven't done anything of the kind! Are all the boys in the United States suffering dangerous repressions if their fathers simply haven't got the money to keep 'em in fancy cars and fancy schools? Is every girl that can't afford a fancier Paris dress than any other girl getting her future character damaged by repressions? If Kitty and Melroy 'they're angels!' Mrs. Brendle cried, advancing upon him fiercely. "Not a word against them from your lips, Walter Brendle! They've borne it all like angels! Not another word against a family that's stood my you the way we have! We've given up everything—everything!—and we've come back here in obedience to your will, to stand by you and face these people!"

Her voice had grown shrill; now it broke, and she wept loudly. "These people—these people here—they haven't had to give up their necklaces and their cars and their servants! No! And yet you drag us back here among them and then show the weakness of character you've shown today, and all winter, besides, in sending money to that old disgrace! No wonder you can't get enough out of your business to give your family what they're entitled to! No wonder you let it run downhill to where it is! No wonder you—"

"Look here!" Mr. Brendle began angrily. "I won't—"

Stop Bad Breath

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets brings no gripping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c—Adv.

HOOKS and SLIDES by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

They tell you that football is a game that helps to build youth's character. If the team doesn't win, however, the coach—who happens to be the man hired to build the young men's characters—is fired. Thus, one of life's sweet lessons that a young football player surely learns that it is just too bad if you don't win. Well?

GREAT HELP TO TRAFFIC

There really is no excuse for a man who has played college football for not sleeping on the brakes when he hears the shrill toot-toot of the traffic policeman's whistle. In a modern game of football, with a referee who is inclined to take the rules seriously, your young football player gets all the practice he needs at whistle-listening. College football ought to be a great help to automobile traffic.

WORK FOR PAINTERS

New York race tracks have been specializing in snappy paint jobs lately. The idea is to take a good horse, disguise him with the markings of a cheap player, enter him in a race as the player and clean up on the bookies. This ought to help solve the unemployment situation among Manhattan painters.

HOW ABOUT GENE?

The late Jimmy McForest, who trained many fighters in his day, remarked that Fipps was a good fighter "because he came from the gutters, and all good fighters come from the gutters." It is to be wondered if Gene Tunney wasn't an exception to Jimmy's axiom. Certainly he didn't come from the gutters, but from a good Christian home, and, well—wasn't he a good fighter?

DEPRESSION?

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons trained horses during the summer racing season that won more than $900,000 in stakes and purses. Inasmuch as Jim gets 10 per cent of the winnings, it looks like lots of his cream and many movies for Fipps this winter. No wonder that Jim, "He was a great admirer of the thoroughbred race horse," creeps into so many biographies.

RAJAH LEFT OUT

The last unanswered question of the baseball season, it seems to me, is: "Why didn't they give Rogers Hornsby his world's series share?" If ever a man deserved a full share, it was the Rajah, who developed the ball club with which Charley Grimm went on to win the pennant. Judge Landis doesn't seem to have the answer. Nobody seems to have the answer. Hornsby, one of the greatest figures baseball has known, is allowed to pass from the game under a cloud, his status unexplained. Well?

HERE YOU ARE, MEN

In keeping with our annual custom of writing during each football season one paragraph about strange names, let it now be recorded that the name of the quarterback at Vanderbilt is Mighty Close. But we don't know whether he's Scotch, or what.

CRISLER'S OPINION

Fritz Crisler, former Minnesota coach, now building character at Princeton, was asked the other day to compare eastern and midwestern football. His reply was that in technique and coaching, the two sectors were on a par, but that there was some difference in the material, more men being available in Big Ten coaches. He might have gone further, if he had been an ardent midwesterner, and added that after all it's the players who play the game.

SEVEN LINE COACHES

There are seven coaches assigned to coach the Duke university line. That is one coach to each man. It ought to work out fine—if each coach hasn't a different idea about line play.

LOSS OF MOHLER STROJANS Move Kidder To Left Half In Saint Lineup

STRANSKE GOES TO FULLBACK; ROGERS AT END

In the person of Captain "Red" Kidder, Santa Ana Hi today took on its fifth left halfback of the 1932 football season.

Around secretive and mysterious Poly field, where Coach "Tex" Oliver's Saints are grooming behind locked doors, it was freely whispered that Kidder will start at the key position against San Diego Saturday.

Left half, operated so successfully last year by Floyd Blower, has given Coach Oliver more grief than any other station. None has been so hard to fill, not even the tackle post vacated by the smashing all-conference Lawrence Lutz.

Bob Mitchell, big and experienced, was expected to replace Blower at the outset. He had shown unmistakable signs of ability in '31, especially at Fullerton and Santa Monica when Oliver was saying Blower for future reference. But Mitchell hurt one ankle during spring practice and injured the other early this term, handicapping him in the matter of speed so essential to a left half in the Notre Dame system.

Duncan Second Choice
Herb Duncan, who had been playing center and guard, was given second choice. He brought to the job speed and willingness, but proved inexperienced, and only fair at blocking.

Francis Conrad, the husky little quarterback who had burned up the league in '31 but had had a tough time getting started, was then shifted to the position. Conrad could pass and kick, and his blocking wasn't bad, but he lacked native speed and was soon sent back to quarterback where it was a foregone conclusion that sooner or later he would regain his 1931 form.

The fourth nominee was Lee Hamilton, a right halfback who had dazzled observers with speed and shiftness in the first game of the season with Orange. Hamilton did quite well but lacked the ruggedness necessary to a blocking halfback. Eventually he was discarded too, returning to his early assignment of understudying Floyd Montgomery, to date Santa Ana's best back.

Kidder Transferred
That left Oliver only Kidder, redheaded fullback. Oliver knew Kidder could block, and that was half the battle. "Red" was used as a blocker his first year on the squad when Oliver was utilizing the Jones "power" system. Kidder can run, too. Once in flight, he is perhaps the fastest regular backfield man as well as one of the shiftest. He is a good kicker and a fair passer, thereby possessing triple threat requisites. So Kidder was transferred to left half during practice this week and there he starts at San Diego—unless something else happens in secret practice between now and then.

Kidder's place at fullback will be taken by Art Stranske, blond junior, the hardest-hitting man on the club. Stranske is a triple threat, too, which gives Oliver four first string backs in Conrad, Kidder, Montgomery and Stranske, who may do any of three things when they are handed the bladder—run, pass or kick.

The plan to use Captain Kidder at left half rather than fullback was not the only news that broke at Poly field yesterday.

Desperate for reserve strength at right end, jinx position of the Saint squad, Coach Oliver began developing Halfback Ray Rogers at the wing berth with every indication that Rogers would get a chance there at San Diego. Don McLaughlin, who recently returned to school after an absence of two years, also worked out at the position. Rogers and McLaughlin both weigh about 165 pounds.

Jack Mitchell, first string right end, was hurt in the Pasadena contest and was not even in suit yesterday. His shoulder is badly bruised.

The Saints worked out with Bill Cook's jaycee Dons yesterday, the Dons using their U. S. C. shift which Coach Hobbs Adams employs at San Diego. There was no tackling but the Dons fooled the preps too often to suit Oliver. One of the passers the Saints will have to watch closely at San Diego is thrown to Beerle, a tackle who frequently plays on the end of an unbalanced line and is therefore eligible as a receiver. Such a pass, Quarterback Warburton to Tackle Currier, beat Santa Ana, 6-0, at Poly field in 1929. After the San Diego game, Santa Ana will be idle until Armistice Day when it goes to Alhambra.

Stagg's Pay Remains At Same Figure

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Alonso Stagg's retirement from the position of athletic director at the University of Chicago will entail no financial loss to football's "grand old man."

University authorities today announced that Stagg's salary as chairman of intercollegiate athletics added to a retirement allowance of $3000 annually will equal his present income, the size of which has never been made public.

SAN DIEGO HAS FAST BACKS TO ANNOY SAINTS

(This is the first of two articles dealing with the San Diego high school football squad, Santa Ana's opponent Saturday in one of the important conference games of the intercollegiate season. Today, the backfield, tomorrow, the line.)

San Diego's starting backfield against Santa Ana Hi Saturday will include "Mushy" Pollock at quarterback, Don Callison at left half, "Jazz" Morris at right half and Frankie Penulas at fullback. This will be the lightest cavalry the Hilltop has ever used in 27 seasons of football rivalry with Saint teams. Pollock's weight is officially listed at 131, Callison's 155, Morris' 164 and Penulas' 140.

Pollock is considered the sparkplug of Coach Hobbs Adams' club. One of the fastest sprinters in Southern California prepdom, the San Diego midwest specializes in end runs and off-tackle slants from fast-breaking formations. Behind the Hilltoppers' massed interference he has broken away for big yardage in every game San Diego has played this year. Pollock's ability does not end as a ball-carrier. He is a deadly passer, too, and for a little fellow is rated as a fairly good blocking back.

Callison is primarily a blocker but occasionally lugs the leather on reserve plays and is frequently used to service as a passer. Callison is also San Diego's kicker. Morris was a regular last year until he broke his shoulder. Morris, a stocky colored lad who played regularly at end in 1931, was moved into the backfield this season. He backs up the line on defense, and does most of the line plunging on offense. He is probably the best all-around back of the bunch.

Penulas, up from Class B ranks, is one of the fastest men on an exceptionally fast team. Like Pollock, he is used on end runs and off-tackle plays.

Another good back, one who will see plenty of action against Santa Ana, is Leonard Murray, track star. Murray will alternate at quarter with Pollock. Murray weighs only 147 but is faster even than Pollock although not as shifty nor as steady. Still another quarterback is Randall Meyers, 135 pounds, who like Pollock and Murray is a trackman.

The other outstanding San Diego backs are Oliver Day, 147, halfback; Jim Dakis, 150-pound halfback who earned a letter last year; Kenneth Brown, 162, halfback; and Leonard Kary, 145, halfback.

Speed rather than oldtime power, is San Diego's threat this year. Pollock, Callison, Morris and Penulas will be a constant threat on long end runs—and passes!

STATZ VOTED 'MOST VALUABLE' PLAYER

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Arnold Statz, former major league outfielder who staged a comeback on the Pacific Coast with Los Angeles last season, was voted as the most valuable player in the Pacific Coast league by a committee of sports writers for The Sporting News, national baseball publication, it was announced today.

Levinsky to Fight In Chicago Nov. 11

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(UP)—Negotiations are under way for a heavyweight bout in the Chicago stadium Nov. 11 between King Levinsky, Chicago, and one of four opponents, Mickey Walker, Johnny Rizzo, Primo Camera or Max Baer. Levinsky has previously fought all of them, losing twice to Baer and once each to Walker, Camera and Rizzo.

LITTLE, UNDER GRANT TO RIDE FIRE, ACCEPTS NEW MOUNT AT PAY REDUCTION RACES FRIDAY
NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(UP)—While a committee appointed by President Nicholas Murray Butler prepared to investigate charges of football professionalism at Columbia university, it was reported today that Lou Little had signed a new three-year contract as coach of the team which he developed from "under-dog" ranks to a high place among Eastern teams.

Little was said to have accepted a salary cut of $2500 from his present contract generally believed to be $18,500 a year. Little would not comment on the contract report or the forthcoming investigation by the committee of alumni, faculty and students.

"I will do whatever I'm told to do," he said. "My job is coaching." The outstanding charges are that Little, at Columbia, particularly football players, are subsidized, given preference in assignment of scholarships and given passing marks in their studies when their work doesn't merit them. In addition, it was alleged that the football coach was overpaid.

President Butler appointed the committee after Columbia's trustees had assured him they favored the investigation.

HARBOR BASKETBALL LOOP REORGANIZED

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 26.—The Newport Harbor Community Basketball league will operate again this year, according to reports from the Harbor Hi school. Several teams in the district are being formed, and are practicing at the school gym Tuesday nights in preparation for the League opening which is scheduled November 1.

Some of the teams to play this year include the Balboa Phelps Terkels, 1930 champions; the Costa Mesa Community church, 1931 champs; Newport Pirates, Balboa Life Guards, and the Newport Beach American Legion post. Some new teams are also being organized to round out the league membership. The games are played every Tuesday night at the high school gym, under direction of the school athletic department.

A four-team volleyball league also has been formed and is playing regularly every Thursday. More than forty older men of the community are playing in this league. One all-star team will be formed from this group to take on volleyball teams from out of community.

CARDS PLAN TO MAKE HORNSBY SECOND SACKER

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—(INS)—Assured a job for at least one year, Rogers Hornsby today declared he will return to the St. Louis Cardinals, humble of spirit and anxious to make good his baseball comeback.

True to the spirit of his agreement with the Cards, the Rajah, who only last August was dismissed from managing the Chicago Cubs, avowed his intention to abide by his word not to assume any part in running the club.

He is returning to the organization which 17 years ago gave him his major league start, as a player, nothing more.

"Sam Breadon thinks I am still young enough to play baseball," Hornsby said modestly, "and that I might be able to help the Cardinals into a pennant."

"I'll go to spring camp with the idea of playing second base. If I make the grade, Frankie Frisch can be moved to third where he played before. At least they tell me that is the scheme in mind."

Under the plan, mentioned by the Rajah, Frisch would replace the injured "Sparky" Adams at third, provided the latter could not recuperate in time for the opening of the season. Upon Hornsby's shoulders may also fall the task of supplying the batting punch absent from the Cards' lineup because of the loss of "Chick" Hafey.

Manager "Gaby" Street expressed extreme satisfaction over the signing of Hornsby. In his announcement, President Sam Breadon, whose quarrel with Hornsby caused the Rajah's transfer to the Giants in 1926, said that sentiment did not influence the negotiations, but that Hornsby's acquisition was regarded as beneficial to the team.

ELSTON, NO. 2 U. S. JOCKEY, NEAR DEATH

COVINGTON, Ky., Oct. 26.—(UP)—Gilbert Elston, America's second ranking jockey, was in a serious condition today at St. Elizabeth hospital because of a fall while riding Black Dust in the eighth race at Latonia yesterday.

Physicians feared he had suffered a fractured skull and were preparing to take X-rays.

There was considerable news popping along the motorcycle racing firmament today as riders tuned their mounts for Friday night's 20-event program of thrills and spills at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl.

Firstly, Ray Grant, Portland, Ore., ace, has received a brand new $250 Harley Special from Milwaukee, which he will introduce here. Few fans realize the handicap that a clever pilot like Grant has been riding under for the past several months. He has had a motor which was only half as large as most of those ridden by his rivals, but by sheer ability has been a consistent winner.

Appreciating his ability the "master minds" at the Harley factory thrust him into the limelight. Now Ray believes he can show Orange county fans he is as good as they have suspected all along.

A newcomer from the middle west got into town today in the person of Burton Albrecht of Kansas City, who holds the sectional motorcycle racing championship. Albrecht was the terror of the track here last fall and Friday night he makes his debut on the German D. K. W. formerly ridden by Myny Wain. Wain henceforth will handle the English Ridge which "Red" Murch used to ride. On this machine the "mighty mite" of the speed fraternity believes that he will be able to make far better time on the Bowl course.

It was learned today that Roy Tweedy of San Fernando, injured at Santa Ana some time ago, is up and around again and plans to be a spectator at Friday night's meet. Tweedy's machine crashed into the fence on the home stretch when he and another rider locked handlebars.

Corbett Outslugs Garcia At Fresno

FRESNO, Oct. 26.—(UP)—Young Corbett, challenger for the welterweight crown of Jackie Fields, hammered out a 10-round decision over Geronimo Garcia, Los Angeles Filipino, here last night.

Corbett took six rounds, Garcia three, and one was even. Corbett led the attack throughout the fight, striking in rights and lefts to the Filipino's head and body but Garcia nearly won the battle in the eighth round, when he bored in with an attack to the head that had Corbett hanging on desperately at the bell.

BADGER STAR OUSTED

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 26.—(INS)—Placed on final probation for having consistently played hockey from two classrooms, "Buckets" Goldenberg, star of the Wisconsin Golden Bears, is ineligible to play football again this season, it was learned today, much to the misfortune of the Badgers who meet Ohio State Saturday.

Quarterback To Be 12th Man In Game Nov. 4

PASADENA, Oct. 26.—(UP)—A 12-man offensive will be used by Occidental and Santa Barbara colleges when the two football teams meet in Rose Bowl here Nov. 4.

Adopting the theory as advocated by Andy Kerr, Colgate coach, the two California colleges will use the twelfth man as a field general. His duties while his team is on the offensive will be to plot the strategy of each play and then drop back with the referee while the play is executed. While his team is on the defensive, the field general will withdraw to the sidelines.

The idea, as conceived by Kerr, is that the addition of the extra player will tend to lessen chances of injury of the quarterback and also enable detection of weaknesses from behind the line of scrimmage. It also would permit a crippled quarterback to remain in the game.

Smith Rejoins Dons, To Play At Riverside
The brilliant work of Charles Bowden, husky Texan, at quarter in the Pomona game makes it all the more probable that Harold Welty, backfield star, will be stationed at fullback against Riverside. Then Bill Bouldin would alternate with Bowden, and Smith and Jim Daneri with Welty.

With the exception of Jim Hall, who was declared out for the season recently with an injured knee, the 1932 squad at present is free from serious injuries and intelligibilities.

It was feared last week that "Bones" Koral, Charles Bowden and Bill McDaniels would be temporarily ineligible, scholastically, for the Pomona game. At the last moment, however, all three were declared eligible by the college office. It was Koral, tackle, who blocked the punt that indirectly gave Santa Ana its first touchdown against Ira Van Cleave's previously undefeated Cossacks, whom the Dons beat 14-6 Saturday.

"Red" McDaniels, working at quarterback against Coach "Tex" Oliver's Santa Ana Hi Saints in line scrimmage yesterday, had the high school second and third stringers guessing at times with his unquestionable speed. McDaniels, transfer from the Stanford freshmen, worked most of the time at the safety position, later filled by Welty. Coach Cook used two line combinations against the Saints.

Back after missing two games and nine drills on account of rib injuries, Wally Smith, fullback whose impressive work made him a regular, rejoined the Santa Ana Junior college football squad today. Smith reported for a light workout yesterday, but did not scrimmage. Coach Bill Cook thinks Smith will be ready for the important Riverside scuffle Saturday.

Two Birds With One Stone? This Man Gets 2 Deer

MAGNA, Ut., Oct. 26.—(UP)—O. E. Hall, hunter and marksman de luxe, frankly acknowledged that he is a law violator but asks one and all: "What are you going to do about it?"

Hall aimed carefully at the largest and fattest buck among a herd of 30 deer.

The hunter whooped for joy when the deer dropped in his tracks—then a moment later he gasped with astonishment when another fat deer, just behind the buck, also collapsed.

The bullet passed through the neck of the first deer and lodged in the chest of the second.

SPINAL INJURY CLOSES CAREER OF GREAT BACK

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—(UP)—Southern California university's hopes for another National football championship received a setback today with the loss of Orville Mohler, sparkplug of the team's offense.

The brilliant gridiron career of the 165-pound quarterback was ended with the discovery of two broken vertebrae in his neck. Danger of paralysis or even death should further injury be inflicted, prompted Dr. Packard Thurbur, head of the Trojan medical department, to order Mohler's removal from the team.

Mohler, a senior, was hurt in the game with Stanford last Saturday, aggravating an old spinal injury received in a game with California last year. X-ray examinations disclosed the fifth and sixth vertebrae had snapped.

Griffith To Play Quarterback
"Mohler is one of the greatest quarterbacks I ever coached," Coach Jones said. "But it is the only thing to do under the circumstances. After all, football is only a game, and victory or defeat is unimportant when a player's safety is at stake." He said that Homer Griffith would be moved to quarterback and replaced at fullback by Bob Morrison.

Mohler's loss cast a heavy pall of gloom over the campus which had depended on him to lead the Trojans to another National championship and carve himself a position on the mythical All-American team, for which he was mentioned last year by some experts.

A cool, heady general in the backfield, Mohler was the sparkplug of the Trojans' scoring offense. In their victory over Stanford last week, Mohler was given a lion's share of the credit by his running of punts and interference. His two gallops, of 24 and 23 yards, respectively, placed his team in scoring position. They capitalized each time. He was one of the greatest broken-field runners in Trojan history.

Perhaps his outstanding performances during his collegiate career were against Washington State last year and California in 1930 when he scored four touchdowns. At Alhambra high school he had a brilliant record during his prep days.

Mohler's popularity on the football field was carried to the campus which elected him president of the student body this year.

"It's the toughest break of my life," said Mohler as he shook hands with Jones. "But it's the breaks of the game, I guess. I feel all right, and was ready for practice when they gave me the bad news. My parents feel as I do about it."

Mohler's father was "Kid" Mohler, famed baseball player. "I have worked for seven or eight years elected my senior year the biggest and best of my career, and it's awful to have to go out like this."

"The play which hurt me at..."

C. of C. Opposes School Tax, Trust Deed Measures

COUNTY BODY ASKS APPROVAL OF WRIGHT ACT

Featured by lively discussions on several propositions, the report of the legislative committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County was adopted by proposition at the regular monthly meeting held last night at La Vida Springs in Carbon canyon.

A. W. McBride, chairman of the legislative committee, read the report of the committee at the meeting last night, which made recommendations on each of the measures which will be voted on at the election on November 8.

Previous to the meeting, the committee held a lengthy meeting in the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce office. Members of the committee, besides the chairman, are George Raymer, W. C. Jerome, G. C. Macleod, Thomas Murphy and J. D. Phillips.

Delegates voted unanimously to uphold the recommendation of the committee that proposition No. 1, which seeks to repeal the Wright act, shall receive a "no" vote. Proposition No. 2, providing for state liquor regulation if the Wright act is repealed and when state regulation is lawful under federal laws, received the same action.

With little discussion, the group voted to uphold the recommendation of a negative vote on proposition 3, an initiative measure which would change the status of the state mortgage and trust deed laws.

Opponents of petitions filed for voting to kill the petition by adding a provision without the authorization of the proponents.

Oppose School Tax Shift

The liveliest discussion of the evening took place in discussion of proposition No. 2, which provides for income tax on individuals, estates and trusts, and a selective sales tax and revises taxes so as to equalize the burden on common property, according to proponents of the measure.

McBride declared that the committee felt that the measure fell into designing hands and while the committee was in accord with some of the principles of the measure, there are other provisions that the committee could not sanction.

Ralph McFadden and R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Orange County Farm Bureau, were leaders in the arguments opposing the legislative committee recommendation of a "no" vote on the proposition. Flaherty suggested that the Associated take no action on the bill and made an amendment to the motion to adopt the committee report to that effect. The amendment was defeated however, and the committee report was upheld.

McBride declared that the adoption of the measure would open the gates for added taxation in the future and does not do away with any other form of taxation. He admitted that he believed real estate was overburdened with taxes and should be relieved if a proper method of doing so could be found.

Proposition No. 10, allowing the city of Escondido to hold stock in a mutual water company, was favored by the group. No action was taken on proposition No. 11, dealing with oil drilling on the tidelands at Huntington Beach, as the Associated had formerly gone on record as opposing the measure.

Other Measures

Proposition No. 12, authorizing the city of Glendale to pay owners certain improvement assessments on their property, was favorably acted on by the group.

Proposition No. 13, amending the state athletic commission act to provide for supervision of the commission by the state legislature, evoked some discussion and was favorably acted on. The group upheld the committee recommendation of proposition No. 14, which was a "yes" vote. The proposition concerns exemption of vessels of more than 50 tons from taxation and merely continues an existing condition for another 20 years, it was said.

A measure regarding deposit of public moneys, proposition 15, was favorably acted upon by the Associated in accordance with the committee recommendation.

The Associated upheld the committee report and acted to recommend a negative vote on proposition No. 16, which empowers the legislature to provide that a lien of every tax shall cease for all purposes 30 years after such tax became a lien or to provide that every tax shall be conclusively presumed to have been paid after 30 years from the time it became a lien unless the property subject to it has been sold in a manner provided by law for payment of the tax.

Propositions No. 17, 18, 19 and 20, all dealing with city and county charters, were favorably acted on by the members of the Associated.

Both Senator Edwards and Assemblyman Edward T. Craig complimented the Associated for its interest in the legislative propositions and commended the legislative committee for its research work and recommendations.

NEW HOME OF HIGHEST COURT

Pictured here are architect's drawings of the new $3,000,000 temple of justice which is to house the United States Supreme Court in Washington, for which the cornerstone was recently laid. The room where the court will sit in the center portion of the structure is only 43 feet square, but is two stories in height. The building which will be completed in three years, will face the Capitol grounds from the site once occupied by the brick building where Congress convened after the original capitol was burned by the British in 1814.

PIG, TYPEWRITER, LAUNDRY IN THREE CORNERED SWAP

A typewriter salesman, a high school student and a woman depending upon her earnings as a fine laundress, all got together recently in an exchange that shows how the simpler rules which governed colonial life in these United States, are being applied to present conditions.

W. H. Woodward of Santa Ana deals in rebuilt typewriters and office equipment; a Riverside high school student from a ranch home, needed a typewriter in his school course, and lacking the necessary money, offered to pay for it with ranch produce including a young pig; Mrs. Woodward's laundress, living on a small ranch on the outskirts of this city, wanted a shot to fatten for the winter butchering. So she offered to accept the pig in payment of her services; the typewriter salesman, and the Woodward's will get their laundry work done for a certain stated period of time, and not a penny of actual cash changed hands. Yet everybody's happy. It's a great life.

Amendments To Be Discussed At Y. M. Tomorrow

The amendments to come before voters in November are to be discussed tomorrow evening at a public meeting at the Y. M. C. A., when Gordon X. Richmond will be the speaker of the evening. Richmond who is an attorney of Orange and who was formerly of Los Angeles, is said by those who have heard him, to give a clear and unbiased summary of each amendment on the ballot.

The meeting is to convene at 7:30 o'clock. Richmond has spoken on the same subject at numerous service clubs and other organizations during the past week.

Former Resident Called by Death

Word was received here today of the sudden death of Hal G. Stiles, chief examiner in the office of the state registrar of contractors. Through his official duties which often brought him to Santa Ana and because he was formerly a resident of Santa Ana before Governor Rolph appointed him to the department, Stiles was well known in this area. His death occurred suddenly night before last.

DRAWN $25 FINE

TUSTIN, Oct. 25.—The Rev. Lawson Watkins, local minister, pleaded guilty to passing a small no-fund check in the justice court of Judge D. L. McCharles yesterday and was given a fine of $25, which he paid.

The defendant claimed that he had deposited a $50 check in the bank sent him by a friend but that this check had been sent back and that he had not been notified by the bank.

C. E. WORKERS TO HOLD MEET NEXT FRIDAY

The Orange County Christian Endeavor Union Fellowship club has scheduled a rally and get-together session in the Orange Presbyterian church Friday night, October 27.

This group of men and women meet from all parts of Orange county and Southern California as well, twice a year for a renewal of friendships and in memory of their working together in Christian Endeavor in past years, according to Miss Edith M. Culter, president. Anyone who has been a Christian Endeavor for at least 10 years or has been either a county or state union officer is eligible to membership in the club. However, anyone who is interested in Christian Endeavor can attend its meetings. The club holds two meetings a year, the fall rally and the spring banquet.

The speaker for this rally will be the Rev. Paul C. Brown, former state president of California Christian Endeavor union. Since his term as president he has been connected with the Christian Endeavor movement in California either as the state field secretary or as the Pacific coast field secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

"There is no one in California better fitted to talk to any group of people interested in the Christian Endeavor movement either from past or present than the Rev. Mr. Brown, for he has been in continuous Christian Endeavor service for 25 years," Miss Culter said. "Mr. Brown will speak on the workings of Christian Endeavor in the present day in the light of past years and will perhaps make some suggestions for help from those of other days."

Others who have been active in Christian Endeavor in past years will take part on the program.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS PLAN DINNER MEET

The newly organized Young Men's Democratic club will hold a dinner meeting at Ketter's cafe here Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock, it was announced today at Democratic headquarters.

The object of the formation of the club is to interest young men in voting and to further the candidacies of Roosevelt and Garner as well as the complete Democratic ticket.

Tevis Westgate, president of the club, will preside at the meeting. Several local candidates will present short talks.

A certain type of migraine headaches are said to be relieved by injections of one of the recently discovered female sex hormones.

BAR PRESIDENT

Clarence Eugene Martin, below, prominent lawyer of Martinsburg, W. Va., has been elected president of the American Bar Association. He is 52.

U. S. REVENUE OFFICER HERE FOR RETURNS

A. B. Pilch, deputy United States revenue collector, will remain in his office in the post office and federal building the last three business days of each month to receive returns on excise taxes, it was learned today.

Because Pilch will stay in his office for the three days, it is expected that there will be fewer delinquencies in making tax payments. This month Pilch will be in the office on October 28, 29 and 31.

Excise taxes now due are for the month of September. A full month is allowed in which to file the returns but they must be filed before the last day of the succeeding month.

COUNTY SCOUTS WILL CAMP AT IRVINE PARK

Hundreds of Boy Scouts and Scout leaders are expected to attend a big rally and court of honor which will be held as a county-wide Scout event in Irvine park Friday and Saturday, it was announced today by Harrison E. White, Scout executive.

All troops in Orange county will participate in the event. Scouts are to be at the park by 5 o'clock Friday evening. Many of them will bring their own food and bedding and will have dinner before the court of honor. Those who wish to, will stay overnight and participate in Scouting tests Saturday morning. All Scouts will return home by Saturday noon.

At 8 o'clock Friday night a big campfire rally will be staged in conjunction with a court of honor which will be featured by the presentation of advancement and merit badges.

A surprise will be staged for the benefit of all Scouts that arrive at the park by 5 o'clock Friday evening, it was announced.

CHECK CHARGE DISMISSED

A check charge against R. H. Frohn, of Buena Park, filed in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, was dismissed yesterday when the complaining witness reported that the check had been paid. The complaining witness had moved out of the county and did not appear in person in court. The check was for $5.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Plans Joint Installation With Post

Miss Minnie Besser, elected to the presidency of the Women's auxiliary to Ernest L. Kellogg post No. 1680 V. F. W. at the recent annual election, now has made her various appointments, so that the auxiliary's official family now is complete.

Elected to serve with Miss Besser during the coming year were Mrs. Effie Hawley, senior vice-president; Mrs. Esther Hendrickson, junior vice-president; Mrs. Maggie Householder, chaplain; Mrs. Ada Soyland, treasurer; Mrs. Edna Camm, conductress; with two trustees, Mrs. J. V. Kelsey and Mrs. John State, and a third to be named at a future meeting.

Appointed by the new president were Mrs. Pay Meister, patriotic instructor; Mrs. McClary, historian; Mrs. Phoebe Hyatt, secretary; Mrs. Paul Cozad, Mrs. Irene Miles, Mrs. Clara Doran and Mrs. Eugene Dickinson, first, second, third and fourth color, respectively.

Installation of these officers is being awaited with much interest by members of the auxiliary, who will join with Ernest Kellogg post in an open installation to be held in Pythian hall Monday night, November 7 at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Phoebe, he Neron of San Diego, senior vice-president of the department of California and Nevada, with her floor team, will serve as installing officers for the auxiliary. Preceding the ritual observance the visiting officers will be complimented by auxiliary officers at a dinner to be held at 5:30 o'clock in the Highway Tea Garden.

Second only to the importance of election and installation plans, were plans made by auxiliary members to enter a float in the Armistice Day parade. Mrs. John State was named chairman of a committee to arrange for this float, other members being Mesdames Ruth Stewart, Clara Doran, Paul Cozad, Ada Soyland and J. V. Kelsey. All members of the auxiliary promised their full co-operation in any plans made by this group.

YOU and your Friends

Mrs. Leland S. Auer (Lois Reed) whose marriage took place in Los Angeles October 18, was in Santa Ana and Anaheim yesterday visiting relatives and friends before returning to her home at 251 North Kenmore street, Los Angeles.

Mrs. R. B. Wolven, 353 East Blehorn street, is entertaining in her home until tomorrow Mrs. Ethel Gould of Worthington, Minn.

Mrs. James E. Vinson, 1424 South Ross street, was a visitor in Los Angeles today.

Mrs. R. F. Cribbar, Mrs. E. A. Davidson and Mrs. G. E. Brunh have returned from Holyville, Cal., where they attended a meeting of the Federated Women's societies of the San Diego district Methodist churches. Mrs. Brunh is first vice president of the federation, and took a part in the program. Mrs. Cribbar also took part in the program, giving a talk on "Leadership". The women left for Holyville on Monday, returning home late last night.

Mrs. Mary L. Mayes and daughter, Miss Roma Mayes, who have been living in Corvallis, Ore., for the past few years, have returned to Santa Ana, with plans to establish their home here. Miss Mayes has completed her college work at Oregon State college.

Current Events Group Enjoys Luncheon And Cards

Current Events section members of Ethel society took part in a delightful luncheon yesterday, meeting early in the afternoon in the clubhouse. Hostesses were Mrs. Walter Hickey, Mrs. Harvey Bennett and Mrs. G. W. Leive.

A Halloween theme had been worked out attractively for the luncheon appointments. Yellow chrysanthemums were the flowers used, and tall lighted tapers in the same bright hue, together with pretty little candy baskets in orange and black, contributed to the holiday motif.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Louise Mock gave an informative talk on amendments to be voted on in the November election. A business session was in charge of the leader, Mrs. Roy Langley.

Bridge was played, with the result that Mrs. Cassius Paul and Mrs. Catharine Marble scored first and second high and Miss Louise Tubbs, third.

Those present were Mesdames Catharine Marble, Catherine Magg, Roscoe Hewitt, John Ketter, Clarence Bond, Cassius Paul, C. E. Bressler, Harvey Gardner, Loyal King, Hugh B. Shields, A. L. Austin, Henry W. Guthrie, Harvey Spears, Fred Newcomb, Roy Langley, Vernon Blythe, Miss Louise Tubbs and the hostess group, Mesdames Hickey, Bennett and Leive.

Club Members Attend Merry Hallowe'en Party

Hallowe'en, with its gay hues and symbols, suggested the theme for a party given recently by Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Perrin, who were hosts in their home on Buena road. A group of club members took part in the enjoyable evening.

Black cats, yellow pumpkins and other appropriate figures had been placed throughout the home. Lovely dahlias and chrysanthemums used in decorating were from the gardens of the W. T. Kivren home on West Seventeenth street.

Bridges was played, with the result that Mrs. Claude Russell and Mrs. Walter Schmid scored first and second high for women, while Mr. Schmid made high score and Mr. Russell second high score for men.

In serving a two-course supper menu, Mrs. Perrin centered the card tables with tall yellow tapers, using nutmegs and other appointments in yellow and black.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Selfridge, Mr. and Mrs. William Holme, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Russell and Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bulle of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmid of Garden Grove, together with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Perrin.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK ROYCE

That friendliest form of hospitality—open house—was maintained yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Royce, who chose this manner of sharing the celebration of their golden wedding anniversary with a host of friends. Their home at 1620 Spurgeon street, was the scene of the happy observance, marking the passing of 50 years since Mr. Royce and Miss Jessie Hemenway were married in the Iowa home of the bride.

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO GOLDEN WEDDING COUPLE

Memories of that twenty-fifth of October, 1882, when Miss Jessie F. Hemenway and Frank B. Royce exchanged wedding vows at an impressive service held in New Hartford Iowa, were recalled yesterday when, after half a century of married happiness, Mr. and Mrs. Royce welcomed their friends informally here in their home, 1620 Spurgeon street, receiving many warm congratulations upon having attained their golden wedding day.

Announcement that open house would be maintained all afternoon and evening in the Royce home, aroused the interest of scores of friends, especially in the First Congregational church, where both have been identified. There was a constant coming and going of friends, each offering congratulations and good wishes, and many choosing to "say it with flowers" in California's own friendly fashion. As a result, the home was like a garden with its baskets and vases of golden yellow and white predominating to suggest the anniversary.

Among those taking part in the celebration were cousins of Mr. and Mrs. Royce, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Patterson of Pomona and Mrs. Alfred V. Gray, of Santa Ana.

Throughout the memorable day, Mrs. Royce was assisted in entertaining by her daughters who live in this city. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mothers Make Plans For Having Float In Parade

During an enjoyable social meeting held Monday in the home of Mrs. Mary Crissman, 617 South Birch street, members of the Legion Mothers club made informal plans for entering a float in the Armistice Day parade. Mrs. Crissman and Mrs. Mabel Leach were named on the committee to further arrangements for the float. The morning hours were devoted to completing a quilt for the auxiliary drill team. At noon, a delicious covered-dish luncheon was served at two long tables, brilliantly decorated with small yellow chrysanthemums suggestive of the Hallowe'en season. Tall tapers were in the same bright hue. Members held an especially enjoyable time during the afternoon, when a large assortment of various colored materials was examined. The pretty pieces had been presented to the club by relatives of Mrs. Crissman, and are to be used in placing a comfort top for welfare work. A short business session held during the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Crissman, the president.

Mothers present included Mesdames Iona Sharp, Fannie Rose, Sarah Marvin, Susie Lamb, Dora Sweeney, Edith Getty, Margaret Hill, Elizabeth Marselle, Alma Kellogg, Lydia Robinson, Lydia Pippa, Platte, S. Dak., Mrs. C. S. Putnam, Belle Young, Cora Adams, Amy Stewart, Hattie Stowe, Elma McKay, Fannie Reeves, Stanza Penn, Mabel Leach, Mary Crissman and a group of guests including Mrs. Mary Sue Faught and the Misses Helen Faught, Ruth Stewart and Minnie Crissman.

The next meeting will be held Monday, November 28 in Legion hall.

EXPECT CROWD AT RALLY SET FOR THURSDAY

ORANGE, Oct. 26.—Talking on "America's Noble Experiment" is the Rev. John S. Sipe, pastor of Temple Baptist church, Los Angeles, is to deliver the address at a prohibition rally and patriotic evening to be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Christian church, under the auspices of the Orange board of strategy.

D. C. Drake, chairman of the board, who will preside during the evening, declared today that the Rev. Mr. Sipe is an outstanding preacher whose name is in the latest publication of "Who's Who in America."

The pastor recently took part in two debates in Los Angeles, one of which was with F. M. Abbott, a former senator of Montana, who now is chairman of the state committee for the repeal of the Wright act. The other was with Attorney Baron C. Hanna, on "Resolved that the Wright Act Should be Repealed."

In addition to the address, there will be special musical numbers, in which members of the various churches of the city will take part. Congregational singing will be led by J. B. Wilbur, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The public is invited to attend the meeting and it is hoped there will be a capacity audience.

Mr. Kreidt preached the mission sermon Sunday morning in the Lutheran church of Redondo. In his absence, the pulpit of St. Paul's church was occupied by the Rev. William Ruff, of Orange, in the German service and by William Klausmeyer, of Orange, in English service. Mr. Klausmeyer is a student of theology at Concordia seminary, St. Louis.

Mrs. Mary Cole and Mrs. Earl Weber left Sunday morning for Indiana, where they will visit with relatives and friends.

Store and House Escape Damage As Large Tree Falls

ORANGE, Oct. 26.—The recent desert wind blew down a tree about two and a half feet through and 40 feet tall growing in a parking near the Winget grocery on South Shaffer street and deposited it in a narrow space between the store and an adjacent house instead of on either structure.

FLAMES DESTROY CABIN AT TRABUCO

ORANGE, Oct. 26.—Fire which broke out in the cabin of T. K. Drake, of 2372 Magnolia avenue, Long Beach, at 10:45 a. m. Wednesday at Trabuco Oaks, completely destroyed the building, together with the garage and an automobile valued at $1000. The total loss was estimated at $4000. No details as to how the fire started were learned here.

The state fire truck, located at Orange, in charge of Joe Scherman and Hugh Alexander, rushed to the scene and assisted in conquering the blaze, which had spread to the brush nearby.

State firemen also were called to extinguish a brush fire which started on South Glassell street, near the Santiago creek bridge yesterday morning and Monday night were called to Villa Park to put out a pump house fire which started in a pump house near the Villa Park store. The state firemen also assisted in controlling a fire in Santa Ana canyon Monday night, it having burned to within two miles of the Orange county line. Hugh Alexander is taking the place of E. E. Vinson, haler in the state fire department at Orange during the illness of the latter.

PROGRAM HELD BY MEMBERS OF ORANGE UNION

ORANGE, Oct. 26.—Talks on "Activities of the Sheriff's Office," by R. R. Lutes, of Santa Ana, and on the proposed amendments to be voted on November 3 given by Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, were presented yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Orange W. C. T. U. held in the First Presbyterian church.

This was the last meeting before election day. November 8, the regular day for union meeting, is to be designated as a "day of prayer" for members of the union, who are to meet in a room at the Presbyterian church through election day. It was decided. Those who are not taking active part in the precinct work and the activities in the office at Board of Strategy headquarters, are to take special part in the day of prayer.

Announcement was made that weekly prayer meetings are held each Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. W. H. Patrick, 135 South Cypress street.

B. Z. McKinney, Democratic candidate for congress from this district, gave a short talk in which he stated that congressmen have it in their power to do a great deal for the people. Should dry legislators be chosen, they can function to the best advantage even though the president be wet, he stated.

In his talk, Mr. Lutes stated that these are stirring times morally, economically and politically. Men are advancing toward betterment of a social order, and many of whose problems are being solved by the W. C. T. U., the speaker declared. The peace officers are finding their places in the advancement of the social order, he continued.

The modern police officer must have brain power as well as physical stamina, he brought out. Men who commit major crimes often are of high intelligence and officers must be highly developed mentally to cope with them.

In telling of the work of the narcotics department, Mr. Lutes displayed pictures of marijuana fields discovered in various Orange county communities.

Concluding, he said that men must continue to apply every possible method toward the apprehension of crime. The Wright act must be kept in force, he said.

During the meeting, Little Miss Minnie Smith presented the Frank and Mrs. Willard pledge. Mrs. Clara L. Sumner conducted devotionals and Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess led in prayer. The union voted to purchase a prohibition book, "Which Way," to be put in the library.

Following, the group adjourned to the Board of Strategy headquarters for a rally meeting.

Funeral Services For H. M. Tyler Of Villa Park Held

ORANGE, Oct. 26.—Funeral services for Harrison M. Tyler, 81, Villa Park resident, were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the chapel of the Gilgoly Funeral home. The Rev. L. V. Lucas, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated.

Hugh Rummels was vocal soloist, singing "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages," accompanied by the organ by Mrs. Florence Donegan. Mrs. Donegan played organ selections before and after the ceremony.

Palbearers were Thomas Galley, T. H. Eljah, E. M. Chapman, W. A. Knuth Jr., Charles O. Fields and A. J. Schoenfeldt. Interment was in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mr. Tyler had been seriously ill for several weeks. He is survived by Mrs. Clara M. Tyler, of Villa Park, his widow, and a daughter and a son, Mrs. Harry M. Gall and Howell Morris Tyler; two grandsons, Jack Gall and Alexander Tyler, all of Villa Park; a brother, John F. Tyler, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Tyler had lived in California for 14 years, coming to this state from Buffalo, N. Y.

Late News From Orange County Communities

90 AT DINNER FOR MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

COSTA MESA, Oct. 26.—The annual mother and daughter banquet was held in the social hall of the Community church Tuesday evening, with 90 people present. The men of the Brotherhood sponsored the affair.

Lloyd Willcutt, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Dr. E. L. Russell, of Santa Ana, director of county child hygiene work, who spoke on the topic "The New Economics in Family Life."

"The family is the basis of our civilization and at the present time there are in the family structure, as evidenced by increasing crime, divorce and delinquency," Dr. Russell said.

"The economic value of a child to the state is placed at $25.34 at the age of 15. Responsibility falls upon the parent in the physical and emotional rearing of the child. The latter is assisted by the church, and various organizations, but in view of the many sad results evidenced, the state is beginning to assist through its county agencies."

As a source of help in child training, the need of study courses in parenthood and child psychology were mentioned. These are gradually being supplied, the speaker said.

Wanda Thompson, with her mother, Mrs. P. M. Thompson accompanying at the piano, sang "Cradle Song" and "The Wonderful Mother of Mine," with Mrs. Thompson at the piano.

M. L. Daniels prepared the banquet. His assistants were T. J. Reynolds, Grov S. Brown, H. B. McMurtry, F. Violet R. Davis, Earl Tead, Ed Bennett, Bert Baird and Donald Gibson.

LA HABRA, Oct. 26.—Efforts of the Mexican consul in Los Angeles to organize relief work among the Mexicans of this district, who are not citizens of the United States, so that they may take care of their own unemployed and destitute cases, is bearing fruit, according to John M. Lyle, resident manager for the Dana Point syndicate.

Mexicans, who are citizens, have responded readily to the appeal of the consul for assistance. As a consequence of this organization, a benefit dance will be held Sunday night, October 31, for which Mr. Lyle, in behalf of the syndicate, has donated the use of the Dana Point pavilion, Juan Mercardo and Jose Lopez, who speak English, have been helping with the plans for the dance.

Special policemen, appointed by the consul, will come to Dana Point with a Spanish orchestra from Los Angeles. All are volunteering their services, so that the entire proceeds of the dance may go for unemployment relief.

Mrs. Jack Haines led the devotional and the missionary lesson was concerning the work among the California Indians. Those who presented the lesson study were Mrs. W. P. Mills, Mrs. Ralph Zumwalt, Mrs. Roy Kelley and Mrs. H. E. Ludy.

TEACHERS HOLD DISCUSSION ON MEXICAN WORK

LA HABRA, Oct. 26.—Taking the first step toward a co-operative movement among the teachers in the various Mexican schools of the county, the faculty of the Wilson or Mexican school in La Habra entertained with a dinner last night in the Washington school cafeteria rooms.

A delicious Mexican dinner was served by eight young Mexican girls from the local county who are now attending high school. Mrs. Pablo Guezman and Mrs. Lupe Torres, also of the camp, prepared the dinner, and Miss Mildred Anderson, teacher in the local school, was assisted in decorating by Misses Aletha and Celia McCullough and Miss Blanche Ferdine.

S. L. Treff, principal of the school, was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Jennie Romoff, of Anaheim, presented seven Mexican musicians in instrumental and vocal numbers.

Mrs. Druzella Mackey, Americanization teacher in the Fullerton Union High School district, spoke of pioneering in the work with the Mexicans and of the improvement in their life habits which had been made in the past 12 years.

Mrs. Edith M. Ritter, of Santa Ana, talked concerning the accomplishments in the Fremont school in Santa Ana.

R. E. Boswick, a pioneer in the work, gave a short history of the progress of the Mexican people since he has been in the work, beginning in 1895.

The matter of an organization of the teachers was discussed under the leadership of Superintendent of Schools E. R. Berry.

Those present were in favor of such meetings and planned for a second meeting at El Modena, to be held sometime before the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Margaret Menne entertained with a family dinner Sunday at her home on Carol drive. The following were guests: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carlson of Orange and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Menne of Buena Park.

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 26.—Plans for the holding of their annual bazaar early in December and plans for the entrance of a junior auxiliary unit in the Fullerton Armistice day parade formulated in last night's meeting of the American Legion auxiliary in the Legion hut here.

The sum of $10 in cash and two pairs of pajamas were ordered to be given out by the auxiliary welfare department for immediate use. After the business session of the meeting, the remainder of the evening was spent in playing bridge. Mrs. Marie Dyckman winning the first prize, a bath towel, with hand crocheted lace border, and Mrs. Fern Boomer getting the door prize, a black and yellow kitchen shelf.

Mrs. Violet Webster was made president of the junior auxiliary unit for the year. The next meeting of the junior unit will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The auxiliary president, Mrs. Ida Brown, and Mrs. Flora Mae Rogers were hostesses at the gathering.

VOTERS REACT TO SMITH SPEECH

Senator Borah, who has not announced himself for either candidate on the national ticket, and who was very pronounced against Mr. Hoover's position, made declaration yesterday that the speech of Alfred E. Smith in Newark, New Jersey, which was mainly on beer, certainly helped Mr. Hoover.

There is no doubt but that this is true in "dry" sections of the country, for while there is little that Mr. Hoover has done himself which would appeal to the "drys" in this campaign, the utterances of such a blatant "wet," who has the conception that from a brewery and a beer vat will come all measures needed for prosperity, almost forces "drys" from the support of the same candidate that this "wet" is for.

It may be that the Democratic organization knows what it is about in having Alfred E. Smith campaign in this style for their candidate. But we would suggest to them that being immersed in beer does not add to their power of vision or their sense of perspective. "Brew" Smith can probably do more to galvanize certain groups into activity for Hoover than any ten men who are now working for the Republican candidate.

However, there was a part of Mr. Smith's speech in which he discussed Mrs. Willebrandt's relation to affairs that was amply justified, for certainly she, as the attorney for the concentrate people, used all the influence and power which she had gathered as a "dry" advocate, to help them "put over" on the public that which the courts declared to be intoxicating. And then she continued to stand by to help them out of their dilemma.

"JUST TOO EXCITING!"

Some folks may have thought that we wouldn't settle down to normal winter activity until after the election, and we won't. But if the announcement which is to be made November 1 were to be made after the election some people couldn't even settle down after the election but would have to wait this other momentous decision.

It is no more and no less than the international contract rules which have been decided upon by the Whist Club of New York, the Portland Club of London, and the Commission Francaise du Bridge. These organizations are the recognized rule-making bodies in this country, Great Britain and France and agreement, at least in America, in their decision has been assured by the already obtained approval of Waldemar von Zedtwitz, president of the American Bridge League; Ely Culbertson, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Bridge Association; George Reith, chairman of the card committee of the Knickerbocker Whist Club, etc., etc.

The new code goes into effect November 1, when the details will be made public. An advance notice, however, says that these rulings, which are international for the first time, will chiefly have to do with scoring. There will be increased penalties for non-vulnerable sets. There has been agitation for something of this sort which would discourage so-called "psychic" bidding, and (or or) bluffing. If the rules serve their purpose, there will be less sitting through a session while the opponent waggles along proving to everybody's satisfaction what they already knew, and he knew better than anyone else, that his bid was not in his cards. Now maybe he will be "soaked" and wishes will come true.

THE SMITHS ARE LOSING OUT

A study has been made of the telephone directory of New York, and the study reveals that there are as many Cohens in New York as Smiths. The Smiths have been supreme in New York ever since 1790. Now they are in danger of losing their leadership to a family never known by their ancestors.

In 1790, the leading names were Smith, Brown, Miller, Wood, Jones, Williams, Davis, Green, Allen, and Baker. In 1932 they are Smith and Cohen (tied for first place), Miller, Brown, Schwartz, Johnson, Friedman, Levy, Schwartz, Miller, Smith, and Goldstein (tied), Friedman, Goldberg, Levine, Klein, and Levy and Greenburg (tied).

This is within the New York area. But in the country at large, the Smiths still hold sway, followed in order, not by the strangers who inhabit New York, but by Johnson, Brown, Williams, Jones, Miller, Davis, Anderson, Wilson and Moore. There are those who will find much comfort in the fact that these families are still strong in the country, and, therefore, that the country is safe. New York is not the United States. But even if the Cohens should assume the leadership over the Smiths in the country at large, we are not so sure that the problems of the country would be less acute. There is something in our national life which has blended the Smiths and the Cohens, so that the result is a type of American not inferior after all.

"CHAMBER OF HORRORS" IN WHITE HOUSE

It has been said that President Hoover was particularly sensitive to adverse criticism as it has come to him through the press and magazines. If it has been a fact, it has not increased the admiration of those who believed it, because we like our politicians "to have the courage of their convictions." To be thick-skinned when acting as they believed was right. Now it would appear that President Hoover is fitted for his office as far as regards the thickness of his skin.

One of his hobbies has been divulged as collecting caricatures of himself. There are over twenty thousand of the caricatures, some of them are hanging on the walls of the room which he has called his "Chamber of Horrors," but most of them are filed and we are told that in depressing moments it is his wont to resort to the "Chamber of Horrors," and enjoy the show.

Some of the caricatures are by friends, others by enemies. There have been some caricatures appearing lately, not always of the President, which it would be hard to "laugh off," and the man or woman who could do so would be a sturdy individual.

A couple of football players were arrested for robbery the other day. Maybe the game is becoming more honest, after all.

THE NEW ITALIAN WAY OF TAXING

Of course, all is not bad in Italy under Mussolini. It may be that for Italy the Fascist rule is desirable and practicable. If Fascist Italy or Communist Russia can teach us anything, we should be willing to receive it. For ourselves, we believe that there are some practices in both schemes of government that might well be used in our country. While Democracy has proven to be on the whole the best form of government among a reasonably intelligent people, we are far from believing that it is of necessity the final form of government.

The occasion for this statement is a news item from Italy that henceforth taxes are to be levied in that country not only on the basis of the taxpayers' returns, but also upon his style of living. If a man keeps up an expensive establishment, he is to be called upon to pay taxes by so much more as he lives above an average standard. We are under the impression that in New Jersey, the policy prevails of taxing a man by the number and the size of the rooms of the house in which he lives. That is the same principle. Any scheme that places the burden of government upon those who are best able to bear it is well worth adoption.

A Famous Painting Takes a Journey

Christian Science Monitor

Whistler's portrait of his mother, called by some persons the most famous painting ever done by an American, is soon to leave the French state art collection, where it has reposed for forty years. It will be loaned by France to the exhibition of American paintings to be held in the Museum of Modern Art, New York, beginning November 2.

Despite the familiarity of this painting, owing to its manifold reproductions in popular print form, it is bound to be a center of interest at the exhibition. Thousands of persons will wish to examine at first hand the picture that made art history at the time it was painted, in 1872, and which was refused by the Royal Academy, only to be admitted through the intercession of Sir William Boxall.

Whistler had set the established art schools by their ears with his dictum that a painting should be of interest for its own sake as a work of art, apart from the subject. Subject, indeed, he deprecated, and resorted to such names as nocturnes and symphonies in designating his compositions. But it is the public, after all, which finally determines values and valuations, and from the first it ignored his title for his mother's portrait: "An Arrangement in Black and Gray."

In due time his argument came to be accepted in art circles, at least in part; and the subject of a picture came to be less often the dominant element. Whistler wished in the instance of his mother's portrait that appreciation should include the way the thing was done. Having won his point, he would object, probably, to the present title of a picture that happens to be so much stronger in subject interest than he customarily sought, "Portrait of the Artist's Mother."

Since 1826 it has been in the Louvre. It is but one of several masterpieces from the collection in that museum which the French Government has loaned to England and America in recent years, an earnest of a new sort of international understanding in the field of aesthetics.

Joyce, Huxley, Tarkington

New York Times

James Joyce has been fighting off blindness for a dozen years, in the course of which he has gone through almost as many surgical operations. He is now on the eve of still another treatment with the knife, under auspices which, according to a Paris dispatch to The Times yesterday, seem to be hopeful. The extraordinary fortitude with which the author of "Ulysses" has carried on his work in the face of almost a continuous ordeal is one more instance of courage allied with genius.

Modernist criticism has loved to take creative artists of whom it disapproved and to explain their work in terms of bad health or bad nerves. It would be turnabout if some reactionary critic were to set out to explain the vertigo of disillusion that is "Ulysses" in terms of James Joyce's troubled eyesight. It would be turnabout, but it would be futile. The thing cannot be proved. If James Joyce and Aldous Huxley have bravely fought off the menace of blindness, so has Booth Tarkington. The effect on the mental vision has obviously not been the same in all three cases.

The Advantages of Rouge

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

Because they didn't wear rouge, two girls, 18 and 19, paid a visit to a New York police court the other day. They were taken there by Police woman Wilhelm Lawless of the Bronx, who suspected the girls of being runaways. Her reason for noticing them and taking them to headquarters was that "they wore no rouge as most New York girls do."

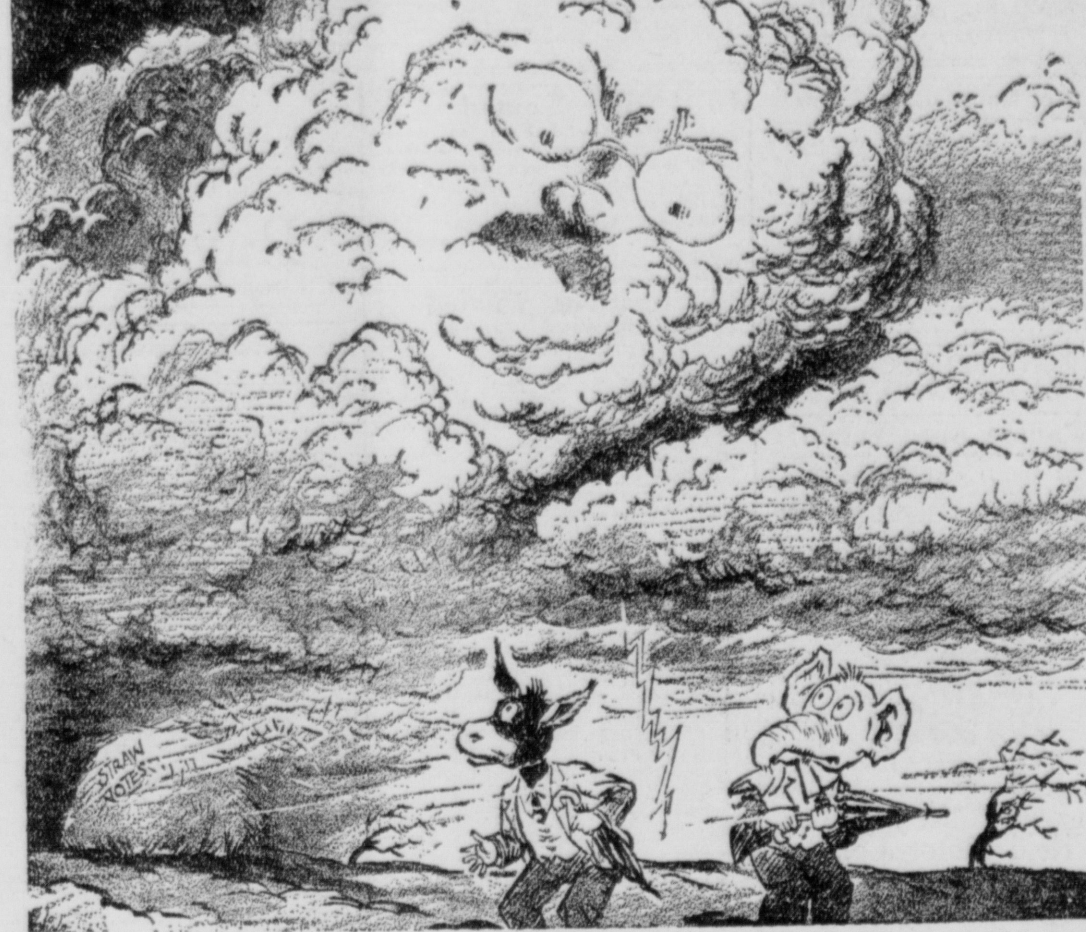

Investigation proved Policewoman Lawless' suspicions well grounded. The girls had left their home in Pennsylvania, but when officials telegraphed their father there he replied: "Keep them. I have 12 more at home that I can't take care of."

The police don't know just what to do with the sisters—these two strange-looking girls without rosy cheeks. They're trying to persuade the father to take them back.

Meanwhile, one issue seems clear. It would seem that girls who go to New York and want to stay there had better rouge their cheeks.

More Truth Than Poetry

TRAGEDY

Word comes from The Hague that the price of diamonds has advanced twenty per cent.

The fellow who wears a white collar—
Which means that his pay isn't high—
Can buy a lot more for a dollar
Than a dollar could recently buy,
If he's out of a job he can borrow
The money it costs him to sup,
But still he has reason for sorrow,
For the prices on diamonds are up.

No matter how meagre his wages,
Though the wolf is not far from his heels,
And gaining by swift, loping stages,
He is usually sure of his meals.
But the jewel he always was strong for,
The gleaming and bright chunk of ice,
Today it is futile to long for,
Because of its fast rising price.

Today he feels beaten and bitter,
For never can gladden his eye
The gleam and the sparkle and glitter
Of the gem that protrudes from his tie.
As well go in shreds and in patches
As wear a cheap garnet or pearl;
It is only the diamond that catches
The eye and the heart of a girl.

He has come to the end of his tether,
No more can he hope or aspire,
For he never can gather together
The price of his one heart's desire.
By bleak saddened thoughts he is haunted,
Hope has vanished, no more to arise,
For the stone he so avidly wanted
Shall gladden no feminine eyes.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

VITTLES AND FREEDOM

Here are two tales that throw a needed light on the problem now facing the American people.

Stanley K. Hornbeck, Chief of the Division of Far Eastern Affairs of the United States Department of States, tells them.

Charles W. Elliot, the solid and brilliant pilot of Harvard as it rose to world distinction, met a woman whose chief distinction was that she had survived one hundred years.

Elliot was an inveterate inquirer. "What would you say, as you look back over your many years, has been the most important thing in your life?" he asked.

"Vittles," she replied promptly. Passing through a frontier village, Confucius saw, seated by the roadside in front of a little hut, a woman weeping bitterly.

"Why do you weep?" asked the sage.

"Oh, sir," said the woman, "last year a tiger carried away my father; last month a tiger killed my husband; yesterday a tiger devoured my son."

"If this neighborhood is so infested with tigers," asked Confucius, "why do you not move away?"

"Oh, sir," exclaimed the woman, "here there is no tyranny."

Kings may come and go, Fascisms may flare and fade, Bolshevisms may flourish for a time, but among the human constants will always be found two eternal hungers. They are:

(1) The hunger for food.

(2) The hunger for freedom.

And we Americans must. I suggest, keep these two human constants in mind as we work our way back to stability and prosperity.

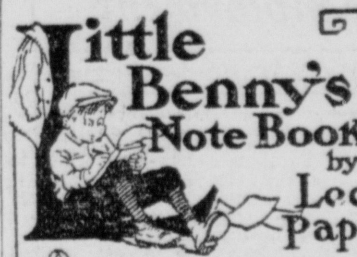

We must solve the problem of hunger. As I said the other day, all of the raw materials for a stable and satisfying economic life are at hand within our own borders. And, of course, we have the genius for social and economic management. The depression is but a baffling interlude between a shaky and a stable prosperity. What we ultimately do about American living standards for the millions will be our answer to the eternal hunger for food, with food taken as the symbol of the whole material side of our lives.

We must not forget the problem of freedom. In this baffling interlude, in which we for a time find ourselves, we must be wary of falling victim to shortcuts and quick remedies that would rob us of what is eternally sound in our individualism. Much of hokum has crept into our propaganda about individualism, but the American will not finally tolerate any system that submerges him in a colorless mass.

We must provide vittles.

We must prevent tyranny.

SHE WON'T

"Ella ought to have a rest hour every day. She is cross every afternoon because she is too tired to go on cheerfully. She wouldn't have these tantrums and she would eat better if she had a short rest time after lunch. It wouldn't hurt if she had one before lunch, too, but the afternoon rest is necessary."

"I know it. But she won't rest for me."

Whenever a mother or a nurse says that you know at once that she is either too weak or too lazy to see that the child does what she ought to do. Any grownup person of average intelligence, and that means all of us, can see that a little child gets a rest period at a stated period every day.

Suppose she does whine and fret? What if she does make a scene and howl and kick? You can manage her, or him, if you put your mind to it. You have the authority, the power, the understanding, that make you her superior.

What is the matter? You have taken the responsibility for the child. Why not see it through? If you haven't the strength to make a child take his rest period there is the army and navy behind you. Think of that and go forward boldly.

It is nonsense to say such things. Teach the child that immediately after lunch she is washed, dressed for resting in loose pajamas, and put to rest in a quiet room. If the child is under four years of age he will sleep as a usual thing. After that age many children cannot sleep easily in the daytime and if they do they lie awake at night, or they lie quietly and amuse themselves with a picture book or a toy. The idea is that they rest in quiet. Nobody talks to them or plays with them. They rest.

Habit is a great help in this. In the beginning you fix the time and stick to it. No matter what happens the child follows schedule. If he does the same thing at the same time every day his body will take on the habit and attend to the matter for him, relieving you and him.

Active children use up more energy than they can supply. By and by they are so tired that their nerves fail to register fatigue. All they know about it is that they feel cross, things bother them. Grown people annoy them. They begin to cry. Then they can't stop. The temper tantrum comes next and then there is a battle, a spanking, and much unpleasantness.

Spanking is not the cure for a tantrum. Rest is the cure. Wash the cross child with warm water and pleasant soap. Dress him in fresh night clothes and put him to rest. Do this in an impersonal professional fashion. The less emotion that is stirred at such times the better. One emotional outburst leads to another and two storms make a cyclone.

But don't say, "He, she, won't sleep for me." He isn't sleeping for you, nor resting for you, nor doing any of the other things for you. What he does is for his own growth's sake and you are responsible for it. You can manage him if you set your mind to it and that is your plain duty. Any successful mother tells you that.

TURKEY ASKS PEACE

On October 26, 1918, Turkey made an offer of peace to the allies that amounted virtually to surrender.

British troops advanced south of Valenciennes. France pierced the Hunding line. Italians made substantial gains in attacks on Austrian defenses on Piave line.

In the Balkans, Serbs occupied Kralievo and Italian cavalry reached the Bulgar frontier. In Asia Minor, the British captured Aleppo, cutting the Constantinople-Bagdad railroad at that point.
